We also manufacture formulas for cleaning

OUR POLICIES ON SLAVERY

We are committed to taking steps towards ensuring that there is no modern slavery in our supply chains or in any part of our business. Our Supplier Code of Conduct reflects our commitment to acting ethically and with integrity in all our business relationships and to implementing and enforcing effective systems and controls to reduce the risk that slavery is taking place anywhere in our supply chains.

BISSELL aims to only partner with substantial, well-established, and professional businesses in the supply of its products, and all such suppliers must commit to a Supplier Code of Conduct and renew that commitment each year. Pursuant to the Supplier Code of Conduct, Suppliers must operate within all legal requirements in each country where products or parts are made for BISSELL. BISSELL recognizes there are different legal environments in which our Suppliers operate, and we expect our Suppliers to follow the laws of their own countries, but we are committed to promoting a minimum standard of humanitarian and environmental awareness that may exceed local laws. Through its Supplier Code of Conduct, Suppliers agree not to use child labor or forced labor, and to treat their employees with respect and dignity. Each BISSELL supplier also agrees:

“Forced, bonded (including debt bondage) or indentured labor, involuntary prison labor, slavery or trafficking of persons shall not to be used. This includes transporting, harboring, recruiting, transferring or receiving vulnerable persons by means of threat, force, coercion, abduction or fraud for the purpose of exploitation.”

When a Supplier enters a commercial agreement, based on our Supplier Code of Conduct section, it agrees that it must operate with certain employment conditions. These conditions include, but are not limited to: Suppliers must compensate their employees by paying all legal wages and benefits; Suppliers must maintain legal work hours; Suppliers must not use child labor; All work must be voluntary and workers shall be free to leave work at any time or terminate their employment, and; Suppliers are required to provide a safe and healthy working environment.

Each Supplier is responsible for ensuring the compliance of its own suppliers. BISSELL also has a third party conduct audits based on SEDEX standards at our main suppliers to help ensure compliance to these standards.

DUE DILIGENCE PROCESSES FOR SLAVERY

We have systems in place to help assess and monitor potential risk areas and to help mitigate the risk of slavery occurring in our supply chains.

As part of this system, BISSELL conducts audits of its finished goods suppliers based on compliance with SEDEX standards requirements. BISSELL reserves the right to verify Supplier compliance with the Supplier Code of Conduct through unannounced on-site assessments and to commission audits of our Suppliers by a qualified independent third party. Each finished good supplier is audited by our internal quality team. While BISSELL has only seven primary suppliers of finished goods, we have many minor suppliers, and consequently we perform or commission over 50 audits annually.

When our audits turn up any actions or conditions not in compliance with our manufacturing requirements or our Supplier Code of Conduct, we follow up with a corrective action list and monitor the Supplier's response. Depending on the severity of the out-of-compliance condition and the Supplier's demonstrated commitment to a comprehensive and appropriate response, we reserve the right to take additional corrective measures, up to and including the immediate termination of purchase orders and/or purchase agreements.

SUPPLIER ADHERENCE TO OUR VALUES

We aim for zero tolerance of slavery. To ensure all those in our supply chain and contractors comply with our values, we have in place a supply chain certification process.

BISSELL Suppliers certify their compliance with the Supplier Code of Conduct every year, through the annual signature of a high-ranking officer on the Supplier Code of Conduct document. Failure by a Supplier to comply with its local laws or the Supplier Code of Conduct will result in corrective measures, up to and including the termination of BISSELL's business arrangement if the Supplier demonstrates any reluctance in promptly correcting any out-of-compliance condition.

We also require in our Supplier Code of Conduct that Suppliers and/or its workers or subcontractors notify BISSELL within twenty-four hours if they suspect, observe or learn of any conduct within their own company or any part of its supply chain that is potentially in violation of the Supplier Code of Conduct or that could otherwise be viewed in any way as unethical, dishonest, destructive, or illegal.

We have a dedicated compliance team, which consists of involvement from the following departments: Legal, Quality Audit and Compliance, Human Resources, and Procurement.

TRAINING

We have conducted training on Transparency in Supply Chains. To ensure a high level of understanding of the risks of modern slavery in our supply chains and our business, we provide mandatory training to all our global associates through our e-learning system. This training will also be available to suppliers.

Since BISSELL was founded by Melville and Anna Bissell in 1876, the Company's business practices have been governed by integrity, honesty, fair dealing and full compliance with all applicable laws. The Company owes its longevity to these principles. BISSELL Associates worldwide must annually sign off on a Global Code of Business Conduct, which reminds and re-commits our entire workforce regarding the importance of this promise. Every BISSELL associate is directed to report any instance of unethical or illegal behavior by BISSELL or by any of its business partners, including its Suppliers, as part of their commitment to the BISSELL Global Code of Business Conduct, and associates who are aware of such activity and fail to report them are themselves subject to discipline.

BISSELL Associates with the responsibility for auditing its Suppliers are trained for these duties through an extensive mentoring process, by which they are required to attend numerous audits in the company of their experienced supervisors, assisting in the required documentation against the appropriate checklists. These Associates attend all third-party audits (SEDEX) and are required to update our internal audit standards as developments in “best practices” are identified.

OUR EFFECTIVENESS IN COMBATING SLAVERY

We anticipate the manufacture of our products in China, Vietnam, Malaysia, Mexico, and Indonesia are susceptible to risks of modern slavery.

We assess that risk using a precertification process including an internal evaluation by the supplier and an audit of the business to confirm the evaluation’s accuracy by our purchasing group.

We use the following audit findings to measure how effective we have been to ensure that slavery is not taking place in any part of our business or supply chains: C-TPAT, SEDEX, and internal audits.

BISSELL adheres to C-TPAT standards for loading all containers of BISSELL goods for international shipping. These standards include a requirement for inspection of each container to ensure there are no hidden compartments prior to loading, with pictures taken of each empty container. Pictures are also taken during and after each loading process, again reducing risk of human trafficking activity that can be associated with our product movement. Containers are then sealed with tamper-proof serialized sealing requirements to prevent anyone from changing its contents during shipment. A comprehensive checklist is completed and signed confirming compliance with this process for every BISSELL container.

SEDEX’s SMETA audit standards are evaluated annually where BISSELL has third party auditors conduct audits at all major Tier I and Tier II suppliers. This audit is designed to help auditors conduct high quality audits that encompass all aspects of responsible business practice, covering SEDEX's four pillars of Labor, Health and Safety, Environment and Business Ethics (including slavery).

Internal BISSELL audits are conducted multiple times each year to ensure the practices and standards are being maintained. In addition, BISSELL has daily presence at all major suppliers’ facilities to ensure all standards are being controlled and followed.

All audit findings for all three audit standards require corrective actions and a follow-up process to confirm and close out the finding.

We manage the risks to our organization by maintaining consistent and high standards of due diligence and risk mitigation processes to monitor for and avoid modern slavery in all environments in which we operate, regardless of whether the environment or the suppliers with whom we work are more or less vulnerable to modern slavery.

FURTHER STEPS

In reviewing our supply chain to draft this statement, including reviewing our Supplier Code of Conduct and internal awareness of modern slavery, we intend to take the following further preventative steps to reduce the risk of slavery in our supply chain:

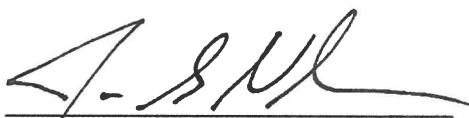

- Annual training of all Associates and primary suppliers.
- Enhanced protection of whistleblowers in the supply chain through the Supplier Code of Conduct.

This modern slavery statement is made by BISSELL International Trading Company, B.V. and BISSELL Australia PTY Ltd. for the financial year ending in December 2020.

The statement was approved by the Boards of Directors for the named organizations in the paragraph above on October 22, 2020.
