1. Introduction

Catholic Schools Diocese of Broken Bay (CSBB) is committed to doing everything in its control to contribute to the eradication of modern slavery in Australia and globally.

In doing this, CSBB is committed to acting with integrity, honesty, transparency and fairness.

Modern slavery describes situations where victims are exploited and their freedom undermined, by the use of coercion, threats or deception. Practices that constitute modern slavery include:

- Slavery;
- Servitude;
- Forced labour;
- Debt bondage;
- Forced marriage;
- Deceptive recruiting for labour or services;
- Human trafficking; and
- the worst forms of child labour.

In 2015, Pope Francis referred to slavery as “an open wound on contemporary society”. Pope Francis pledged to work with other global religious leaders to empower their communities to stand against modern slavery in all its forms. Australia pledged to eradicate modern slavery and human trafficking by 2030 by adopting the Pope Francis inspired UN Sustainable Development Goal (SDG) 8.7. Today, he continues to raise his voice against modern slavery and human trafficking, promoting an “economy of care”.

As a system of Catholic schools immersed in the Gospel of Jesus, CSBB is committed to the values of compassion, tolerance, forgiveness and reconciliation. CSBB opposes modern slavery in all its forms.

CSBB acknowledges its role and responsibility in safeguarding the human rights of all people through ethical business practices and that it must do its part to prevent, identify and report unacceptable labour practices in its supply chains as they are identified. CSBB recognises the importance of protecting the human rights of all people in its communities and those that may be impacted by its activities.

Continued detailed assessments of CSBB’s procurement practices and a deeper understanding of the organisation’s supply chains will provide an opportunity for improvement year on year. CSBB plan to continually build stronger policies, processes and practices throughout the organisation to ensure its supply chains are not contributing to modern slavery.

This statement addresses the modern slavery reporting criteria in accordance with the Modern Slavery Act 2018 (Cth) ('the Act') for the financial year 1 January 2021 to 31 December 2021.

Operations

CSBB is a not-for-profit system of schools that delivers Catholic education to approximately 17,000 students enrolled in its schools, with 47 locations and approximately 2,100 employees in total. CSBB's school system comprises 44 schools (36 primary schools, 7 high schools, and 1 K-12 school).

The system of CSBB schools is located across 3 geographical areas: Sydney North Shore, Sydney Northern Beaches and NSW Central Coast. CSBB is headquartered in Pennant Hills, Sydney, Australia.

The two main sources of income which fund CSBB's operations are government grants and school fees.

In 2020 CSBB began an organisational transformation led by the Director of Schools, which introduced a workstream approach for the delivery of school system support services, consisting of:

1. Student Achievement;
2. Evangelisation and Catechesis;
3. Capability and Enablement;
4. Governance, Legal and Risk;
5. Digital Enablement;
6. Facilities and Procurement; and
7. Financial Viability.

Supply chain

CSBB's supply chains include contracting with and purchasing from suppliers of both products and services in a number of categories including:

- Construction and related services and products such as building companies engaged to carry out capital works at schools;
- Facilities repairs and maintenance and related services and products;
- Facilities management services and products such as on-site security services;
- Business and education services and products such as stationery and promotional products;
- Technology such as audio-visual equipment or classroom learning related technology;
- Online services such as canteen services food ordering platforms;
- Sale of school uniforms;
- Overseas excursions, and pilgrimages and immersion programs for students and staff.

These products and services may relate directly to the provision of education (for example, stationery and teaching products) or indirectly support the provision of education (eg. roof repair services engaged at a school site).

CSBB also engages a labour force of teaching and support staff (both employed and contracted) primarily based in Australia, with a small amount of services in schools provided by overseas nuns.

The suppliers engaged by CSBB are predominantly based in Australia, however some are internationally based and in addition some will in turn have their own suppliers in their own supply chains who are internationally based (ie. 'indirect suppliers' to CSBB).

As part of its Modern Slavery Statement, CSBB reports on its actions to assess and address modern slavery risks associated with its operations, including its Procurement Framework. CSBB also explains how it is assessing and addressing modern slavery risks in its supply chains.

The CSBB Procurement Framework identifies responsible business conduct and is supported by policies that ensure due diligence. CSBB decision making is delegated to the responsible persons through the CSBB Delegations Policy. The protection of the human rights of people within its extended supply chains is a priority for CSBB, and its processes ensure ethical procurement of all CSBB requirements.

4. Risks of modern slavery practices in operations and supply chains of the reporting entity and owned and/or controlled entities

CSBB has assessed the risks of modern slavery practices in its reporting entity and owned and/or controlled entities through segmenting risks into:

1. Risks that CSBB may cause modern slavery practices (ie. risk that CSBB operations may directly result in modern slavery practices)

CSBB considers these risks to comprise those directly related to the employment of its employees, and the small scale of provision of services to its schools by overseas nuns (not directly employed by CSBB).

All CSBB full or part time employees are employed by the reporting entity, with the engagement of temporary contracted employees occurring in both the reporting entity and subordinate entities.

2. Risks that CSBB may contribute to modern slavery practices (ie. risk that CSBB's operations and/or actions in its supply chains may contribute to modern slavery, including acts of omissions that may facilitate or incentivise modern slavery)

There are two key areas where this CSBB may be subject to these kinds of risks:

- Construction projects required under timelines which might risk construction contractors using means to achieve these timelines involving components of modern slavery which are unobservable to CSBB through contractual or other documentation and/or physical observation on site; and
- technology or other goods produced overseas.

3. Risks that CSBB may be directly linked to modern slavery practices (ie. risk that CSBB operations may be connected to modern slavery through the activities of another entity it has a business relationship with).

This risk will be broad in scope (sitting across all supplier categories) and will focus on entities with which CSBB has a contracted and/or ongoing and/or large spend.

CSBB's initial assessment of the risk of modern slavery in its supply chains was undertaken with SD Strategies in 2019 and the results produced assisted with the identification of key areas of focus. The areas measured by the "Bridge the Gap" risk assessment were: management systems, risk management, human resources and recruitment, customers and stakeholders and lastly, procurement and supply chain. The outcome presented a starting point for further risk reviews that will comprehensively identify where modern slavery and the intersecting risks to the rights of humans lies in CSBB's supply chains.

5. Actions taken by the reporting entity and owned and controlled entities to assess and address risks, including due diligence and remediation processes

CSBB's reporting entity (and associated headquarters) takes the majority of responsibility for taking actions to assess and address risks relating to modern slavery. The reporting entity's obligations to the CSBB schools also take responsibility for taking actions in this area. However, they do so under the guidance of CSBB and with the instruction that suppliers from which they regularly purchase and/or from whom they contract the supply of products or services are subject to proper due diligence and remediation.

Actions taken are categorised below in line with the segmentation of risks identified.

1. Risks that CSBB may cause modern slavery practices (ie. risk that CSBB operations may directly result in modern slavery practices)

Identify and assess: CSBB has assessed the risk of modern slavery in its operations to be very low due to our robust employment practices which serve to safeguard the employee and in turn, safeguard against modern slavery.

Integrate findings and track performance: CSBB has in place systems, policies and procedures to safeguard its direct employees and their rights. CSBB regulates working conditions and employment in line with Fair Work Act 2009 and negotiated enterprise agreements. All of CSBB's direct employees are located within Australia, and CSBB has a strong employment and onboarding process, whereby the employee is respected and remunerated commensurate with the minimum award rate if they are not covered by a contract.

Communicate: CSBB is committed to promoting justice and fairness in relationships and service and promote proper working conditions characterised by justice and fairness. CSBB is committed to continually revising its Modern Slavery Statement as new risks and/or trends in this area emerge requiring a CSBB response.

2. Risks that CSBB may contribute to modern slavery practices (ie. risk that CSBB's operations and/or actions in its supply chains may contribute to modern slavery, including acts of omissions that may facilitate or incentivise modern slavery)

Identify and assess: In all construction projects, CSBB ensures that a full and detailed construction program is put together by facilities construction and repairs and maintenance suppliers, with this program subject to thorough due diligence using Subject Matter Experts (SMEs) to ensure that the assumptions embedded in the program do not indicate unreasonable or undeliverable timeframes for sub- tasks in the context of standard industry practice. Equally, a thorough due diligence exercise in relation to quoted costs is used to uncover labour rate assumptions and any indication of hourly rates which are below industry standard and that required by legislation which may indicate the risk that slavery is embedded within supply chains

In the case of technology produced overseas, CSBB adopts its vendor due diligence (see point 3 below) in identifying and assessing risk associated with its vendors in this space.

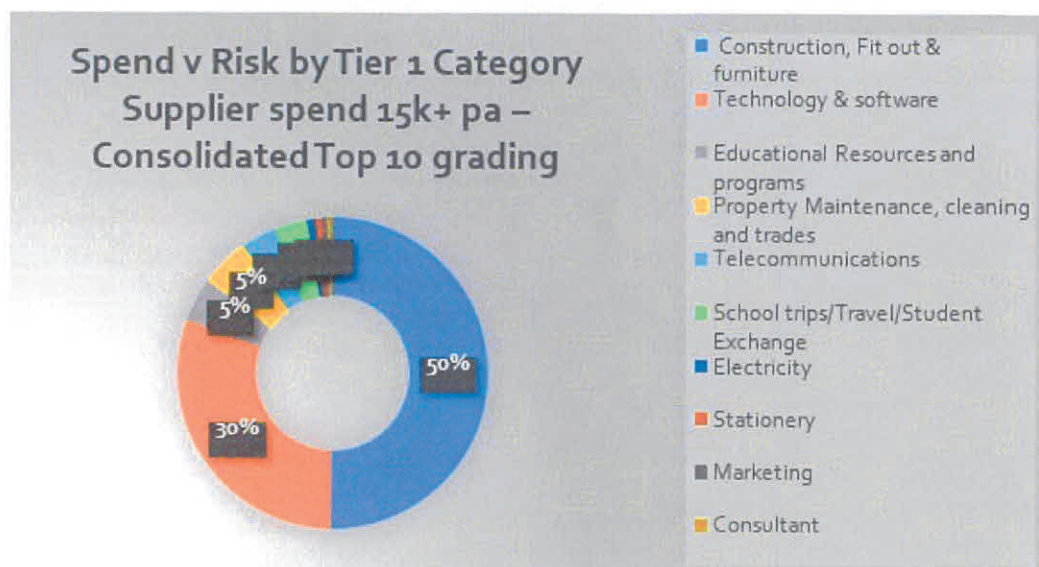

Integrate findings and track performance: SMEs are engaged across multiple capital works and R&M projects to ensure relevant benchmarks for timeframes and costs. Equally, where relevant and appropriate, a database of these benchmarks is maintained.

Communicate: CSBB is committed to continually revising its Modern Slavery Statement as new risks and/or trends in these areas emerge requiring a CSBB response.

3. Risks that CSBB may be directly linked to modern slavery practices (ie. risk that CSBB operations may be connected to modern slavery through the activities of another entity it has a business relationship with)

Identify and assess: CSBB has taken the key steps below in an initial assessment of its supply chain risk:

- 1 Quantify spend: In 2020 CSBB undertook an exercise of listing all of its suppliers according to the amount of CSBB spend. For the 2020 year total spend with suppliers was approximately $50 million, representing approximately 20% of total spend (the majority of CSBB spend is staff costs).
- 2 Categorise spend: The suppliers with spend over $15k in 2020 were categorised by CSBB, with 10 broad categories defined. This analysis is set out graphically below.

The highest spend suppliers were categorised and an analysis of the top 10 supplier categories undertaken. This identified the construction, fit out and furniture consolidated category as accounting for 50% of the Top 10 category spend.

- 3 Understand the risk: Initial risk analysis to identify the level of risk of each product or service in CSBB's supply chains has been completed. This process is to be undertaken for all suppliers at intervals throughout the contract lifecycle.
- 4 Delve deeper into high risk categories: This will be undertaken as an ongoing activity. The focus is on the suppliers in the categories that have been identified as a significant risk.

CSBB's vendor due diligence includes the assessment of a vendor's ability to supply the goods or services in a manner that ensures they comply with all legislated requirements, including the Modern Slavery Act 2018. This vendor due diligence is captured in a Supplier Compliance Questionnaire which is attached as Appendix A to this statement, and represents the necessary step required ahead of placing a supplier on CSBB's list of Compliant Suppliers.

In addition to use of the Supplier Compliance Questionnaire, CSBB have added a criteria in tender due diligence (via tender documentation) that specifically seeks the extent of the tenderer's knowledge of the Modern Slavery Act 2018 and whether they are reporting mandatorily, voluntarily or not at all, and their willingness to work with CSBB to address any modern slavery risks in its supply chains.

In addition to our tender requirements, all relevant Diocesan suite of legal precedents in respect of contracts expected to be of material value will incorporate relevant provisions and a Modern Slavery Act clause in response to our commitment to anti-slavery and the Modern Slavery Act. Furthermore, should the CSBB enter into another contractor's precedent agreement in respect of a contract of material value the following clauses will be required to be inserted:

4B Anti-Slavery

(a) In this clause 4B:

- (i) Modern Slavery has the same meaning as in the Modern Slavery Act 2018 (Cth); and*
- (ii) Modern Slavery Laws means the Modern Slavery Act 2018 (Cth), the Modern Slavery Act 2018 (NSW), any other applicable legislation and regulations relating to Modern Slavery, and any code of practice or compliance code relating to Modern Slavery applicable to this Agreement.*

(b) The Supplier must take all reasonable steps to ensure there is no Modern Slavery in its operations and supply chain, or that of its subcontractors and suppliers, including:

- (i) establishing and implementing appropriate systems and processes (including relevant employee training systems and supply chain due diligence procedures) to ensure any risks or occurrences of Modern Slavery in its supply chains or any part of its business are identified, assessed and addressed;*
- (ii) notifying Catholic Schools Broken Bay as soon as reasonably practicable after it becomes aware of, or has a reasonable basis for suspecting, instances of Modern Slavery in its supply chains or any part of its business; and*
- (iii) taking all reasonable steps to ensure that any instances of Modern Slavery in its supply chains or any part of its business cease and victim remediation occurs to the reasonable satisfaction of Catholic Schools Broken Bay.*

(c) The supplier must provide all reasonable assistance (including the provision of information and access to documents) that Catholic Schools Broken Bay reasonably requires to ensure Supplier's compliance with clause 4B and to enable the Catholic Schools Broken Bay to comply with its obligations under Modern Slavery Laws.

Integrate findings and track performance: CSBB have implemented a process to regularly monitor a number of high-risk supplier categories, with the most important of these being:

- 1 Construction and fit out products – CSBB’s largest area of supplier spend is in the area of construction, fittings and furniture. This area is a publicly known modern slavery high risk category and is therefore an area of concern for CSBB;
- 2 Technologies – This is another publicly known modern slavery high risk category as many components of technologies used by CSBB may be at risk of slave labour being hidden in the supply chain;
- 3 Textiles (school uniforms) – There are publicly known slavery conditions in the textile industry;
- 4 A number of low-skilled trades including cleaning and maintenance – these trades are publicly known to have a high risk of slavery embedded in their supply chains.

CSBB is in the process of rolling out a new Enterprise Management System (EMS). As part of this roll out, existing Supplier Compliance Questionnaire capability and compliance related information is being populated in this system, with functionality being developed for the EMS to flag when compliance information is not available and/or out of date (ie. not currently valid). This exercise will assist in tracking any situations where commitments, statements and/or declarations in relation to modern slavery have not been sought by CSBB and/or provided by a CSBB supplier.

Communicate: CSBB is committed to continually revising its Modern Slavery Statement as new risks and/or trends in these areas emerge requiring a CSBB response.

Summary

CSBB has policies, procedures and guidance in place to ensure our organisation complies with relevant legislation including section 83C of the Education Act 1990 (which requires all schools to operate on a “not-for-profit” basis in order to be eligible for funding from the NSW Government), and that ensures that CSBB operates to a certain standard that guides the responsible stewardship of resources, that are ethical, efficient, effective, and value for money.

CSBB having a centralised response to modern slavery will mitigate the risks of slavery in its supply chains, no matter what the procurement. In addition to the work on embedding modern slavery due diligence into CSBB’s tender and supplier capability processes, contract documents address human rights issues and in particular, an agreement between CSBB and the supplier to work together to combat modern slavery. CSBB believes that suppliers that have the security of a contract in place are less likely to employ illegal slavery practices.

Over the course of 2020 and 2021 CSBB has:

1. Completed a high-level assessment of its operational supply chain risk
2. Created a process for completing suppliers' due diligence and compliance assessment
3. Created a Supplier Compliance Questionnaire and rating system
4. Circulated the Supplier Compliance Questionnaire out to suppliers
5. Assessed categorised spend to identify key risk areas
6. Commenced the process of creating awareness both within and outside the organisation
7. Commenced work on technologies to assist with procurement processes
8. Embedded modern slavery due diligence into tenders
9. Identified key risk areas/gaps in purchasing for its school system
10. Commenced the migration of existing supplier capability and compliance information into its new Enterprise Management System (EMS)
11. Finalised a rolling list of Compliant Suppliers.

6. How the reporting entity assesses the effectiveness of these actions

Process to regularly review

The components of the Supplier Compliance Questionnaire which include criteria that directly or indirectly addresses the supplier's business model, staff, training, modern slavery awareness and financial stability is CSBB's first step to modern slavery supply chain due diligence. All current suppliers and future suppliers will be put through this process in order to be on CSBB's list of Compliant Suppliers. This will be reviewed at intervals to ensure this questionnaire covers the vital first level of assessment for all suppliers. The effectiveness of this exercise can be measured by how many of our suppliers CSBB has completed this rigorous process with.

The migration of this information to the EMS will make this review an even more effective and efficient process.

Regularly checking risk management process

A Procurement Working Party has been established in 2021, with its recurring agenda items to include:

- Continual refinement of the information requested by the Supplier Compliance Questionnaire;
- Continual refinement of the supplier onboarding process;
- Continual refinement of the CSBB Procurement Framework and its related policies and procedures (including tender process documentation templates); and
- The management of suppliers and contracts in the EMS.

Regular engagement and feedback

The CSBB Procurement function will aim to regularly engage with internal stakeholders (including school-based staff) in respect of modern slavery, with brief education programs/materials where deemed relevant and necessary.

The CSBB Procurement function will also aim to seek feedback on the view the schools have on the way suppliers are being managed for capability and CSBB supplier compliance considerations such as modern slavery.

Key Performance Indicators (KPIs)

Whilst CSBB does not currently include a clause or KPI relating to modern slavery in its standard agreements with suppliers, it ensures that all new suppliers declare their commitment to operation in accordance with the Modern Slavery Act (through vendor or tender due diligence).

CSBB's primary KPI in the area of modern slavery is intended to be the contracting of and repetitive engagement with only those suppliers which have met the requirements of CSBB's vendor and/or tender due diligence.

Partnering

At relevant milestones, CSBB will partner with an external advisor deemed appropriate in order to share its progress and the way this progress is being documented for independent review and feedback.

7. Process of consultation with owned or controlled entities

The CSBB Procurement Framework which was drafted in 2020 and finalised in 2021 makes reference to the need for CSBB to operate in accordance with the Modern Slavery Act 2018.

This Procurement Framework was developed through consultation with other Catholic Schools Offices and internal stakeholders (including CSBB school representatives).

The Procurement Reference Group which comprises CSBB School Principals from all CSBB geographic areas in addition to representatives from some of the CSBB support services workstreams worked to develop the CSBB Procurement Framework. The status quo of procurement in the organisation was assessed and the future direction and alignment with the organisation's values and policy informed the decisions made by the group.

As the CSBB Procurement function matures, it will be developing a program in line with the modern slavery legislative requirements that will monitor, analyse and manage modern slavery risks into the future. This will be embedded through the Procurement Working Party.
