Social Responsibility at Bosch

Globally, Bosch will not collaborate with any suppliers who have been shown to demonstrably and repeatedly fail to comply with basic International Labour Organization (ILO) standards.

The assumption of responsibility for society and future generations has a long tradition at Bosch. In the early days of the company, Robert Bosch himself pioneered the launch of welfare programs for associates and their families; in non-business areas, too, he played an active philanthropic role. Today, the Robert Bosch Foundation promotes health care, international understanding, welfare, education and training, art, culture, and science.

Robert Bosch GmbH is a current signatory to the UN Global Compact and has been for many years. Bosch is also a member of the Responsible Minerals Initiative (RMI) and requires the compliance of its suppliers with the Bosch Group Policy for Conflict Raw Materials.

Combining the pursuit of economic goals with consideration for social and environmental factors is a priority at Bosch. We accept that our actions must accord with the interests of society. Above all else, we design our products and services in the interests of the safety of people, the economic use of resources, and environmental sustainability.

The following are links to Bosch's latest Global Sustainability Report for 2022, our Sustainability and Compliance strategies and the Basic Principles of Social Responsibility at Bosch.

In this statement the Directors of Robert Bosch Australia affirm their commitment to common principles of social responsibility and requirements held within the Act.

Operations and Supply Chains

Robert Bosch Australia sources products and materials from around the world. Over 60% of our products and materials come from Bosch facilities in countries outside of Australia. Many products and materials come from, Germany, United States of America, Singapore, and Australia.

Within Australia, Bosch's only manufacturing plant is dedicated to the production of automotive diodes and is located at the Clayton site. All other products / materials are sourced externally.

Robert Bosch Australia deals with a large volume of direct and indirect suppliers, supply partners and organisations. All such organisations are requested to comply with our Code of Conduct for Business Partners. Suppliers will be subject to Bosch Governance programs and audits as detailed within this document.

To ensure greater understanding of our programs and requirements, Bosch Global has enhanced our Sustainability in the Supply Chain program by becoming a member of the Responsible Supply Chain Initiative (RSCI) – The RSCI is an association that seeks sustainability along global supply chains in the automotive industry - RSCI Program Information.

Modern Slavery Risks

Robert Bosch Australia, in line with the global Bosch Group, has several ways it reviews sustainability and modern slavery risks within its processes and supply chains. These include:

1. Corporate Social Responsibility Quick Audits
2. Corporate Social Responsibility Drill Deep Assessments
3. Corporate Social Responsibility Database
4. “Drum Cussac” country risk analysis
5. Whistle-blower policy and hotline
6. Global Business Partner Screening
7. Global Corruption Risk Assessment
8. Mandatory Compliance Training

Via a combination of these risk analysis tools, Robert Bosch Australia has a database of all direct and indirect suppliers including conflict mineral risks, audit status, risk profile, and identification of low performing suppliers.

As such, we have identified the following as our high-risk exposures:

- Mining and procurement of manufacturing minerals
- Supply of materials and goods from high-risk countries – India, Mexico, Southeast Asia, China, South America

Robert Bosch Australia’s direct risk of modern slavery is by our assessment low. We recognise, however, that we may be inadvertently exposed to such risks.

Actions Taken to Mitigate Modern Slavery Risks

Compliance Meetings

Robert Bosch Australia regularly conducts an internal compliance meeting covering a wide range of topics, including those relating to modern slavery, supply chain and Corporate Social Responsibility. Select senior personnel from within the organisation will attend these meetings from time to time as required. The core group is as follows:

- Head of Legal (General Counsel)
- Central Human Resources Manager
- Compliance Manager
- Central Safety and Security Manager
- Data Security Manager
- Chief Financial Officer

Each meeting may include subject matter experts to supply further detailed information on specific topics related to Modern Slavery and Social Corporate Responsibility.

Modern Slavery is a standing topic within the agenda and is discussed as needed when relevant topics arise. Our compliance database is reviewed and discussed at these meetings to ensure ongoing compliance across the group.

Corporate Social Responsibility Quick Audits

These audits are designed to supply a snapshot into our third-party contractors, suppliers and other external parties engaged by Robert Bosch Australia.

Audits are conducted for suppliers and contractors who derive more than AUD$10,000 from Robert Bosch Australia within a financial year.

These quick audits look to collect information relating to the following:

- Modern Slavery
- Child Labour
- Health and Safety
- Security
- Environment

Audits may include the RSCI program requirements.

Internal Robert Bosch Australia employees who are responsible for the service / product or contract conduct these audits. Audits are provided to the Purchasing Department for review and inclusion within our database.

Should non-conformances be identified, an Action Schedule is provided to the service / product supplier for rectification. Only when resolved to the satisfaction of Robert Bosch Australia will the supplier then be engaged. The Regional Purchasing Manager oversees this process.

Should the non-conformance not be rectified, Robert Bosch Australia may suspend or disqualify this organisation from working with Bosch.

Corporate Social Responsibility Drill Deep Assessments

Drill-deep assessments are used in potentially high-risk regions or industries, or when there are any specific indications of non-compliance. Assessments are not limited to suppliers who have had irregularities in the past or who have had a change of ownership. Any suppliers of strategic importance are also assessed. This deep drill assessment involves the previous audit criteria but increases the depth and breadth of the analysis.

The findings of drill-deep assessments are documented in our supplier database. Improvement potential is recorded in a specific action plan. The plan supports the supplier as well as the auditor, who subsequently also accompanies and follows up the implementation of measures. Suppliers are expected to start implementing the measures immediately after the results are made available – and in some cases while the audit is still being performed.

Suppliers who satisfy the requirements in general are still informed of any non-critical gaps and asked to take action.

All information from both audits is included within our Corporate Social Responsibility reporting within our region. This information is available to all senior management and those involved in the procurement and approval of suppliers.

Code of Business Conduct

Robert Bosch Australia's Code of Business Conduct is a mandatory training requirement for all employees of Robert Bosch Australia and Bosch Automotive Service Solutions.

This code covers all aspects of our Corporate Social Responsibilities, compliance, and organisational responsibilities.

All employees must complete this training at least once every two (2) years.

Whistle-blower Policy

Robert Bosch Australia's whistle-blower policy and compliance hotline allows all employees at all levels to raise issues relating to any matter anonymously. All information provided via this service is taken extremely seriously.

The Central Compliance and Central Security Managers investigate all whistle-blower / compliance issues raised.

Global Business Partner Screening

The Global Business Partner Screening process cross references third party supplied information relating to legal compliance breaches against Robert Bosch Australia's list of new and current business partners. Where a potential breach is found, the Regional Compliance Manager is engaged to investigate the breach. Suppliers who are flagged with a potential breach are suspended until such an investigation is completed and any potential issues rectified.

Board Reporting

The President with responsibility for Oceania supplies compliance summaries to the responsible member of the Bosch Board of Management on a regular basis.

Compliance Reporting

The Oceania Compliance manager supplies a monthly report to the Central Compliance team in Germany on all compliance matters raised, including those from the whistle-blower and Global Business Partner Screening systems.

“Drum Cussac”

This system supplies country-by-country security information, risks, customs and identified issues. Whilst primarily used for travel security, it is now being more extensively used to review supplier countries to receive immediate and up to date information on current issues.

Global Corruption Risk Assessment

Robert Bosch Australia conducts a Corruption Risk Assessment every two (2) years. The results of this assessment are provided to our central compliance division to supply insight on global risks to our organisation.

Compliance Training

Robert Bosch Australia conducts several compliance-based training sessions for staff. The following training is mandatory for those with roles relevant to the subject matter:

- Code of business conduct
- Dealing with classified information
- Anti-corruption
- Gifts and gratuities
- Product development code
- Product safety and liability
- Anti-trust law
- Export control

Effectiveness Reviews

All identified risks from the above are fully assessed, with corrective actions developed, discussed, and appropriately disseminated.

All corrective actions are tracked to completion.

Audits of the effectiveness of all systems are conducted regularly.

Onsite effectiveness reviews are completed in selected suppliers.

This is monitored via the Robert Bosch Australia finance and purchasing teams.

Consultation and Communication

During our compliance team meetings, the team (which may include a cross section of senior leaders from across the business) assesses and identifies companywide compliance topics, including modern slavery risks and mitigation measures, and works toward continuous improvement across all organisational divisions.

In addition to this process and introduced as part of our Code of Business Conduct training is our “Compliance Dialogue.”

Compliance Dialogue is where all managers and employees, at least quarterly, discuss compliance matters, risks, and risk mitigations within their working teams. This dialogue includes review and discussion of modern slavery for relevant personnel, and several other topical compliance matters.

The compliance dialogue is a vital component to ensuring that these topics remain “front of mind” for all Robert Bosch Australia personnel.

Conclusion

Robert Bosch Australia, in line with the global Bosch organisation, is dedicated to enhancing our Corporate Social Responsibility. As a group we have invested heavily in information systems and practices to ensure we set the standard in how a modern organisation should act locally and globally.

The information contained within this statement demonstrates our commitment to the elimination of modern slavery and criminal work practices, and our desire to have Corporate Social Responsibility at the forefront of all our operations.
