The MSWG continues to educate and promote the importance of the Modern Slavery Policy and the Modern Slavery Supply Agreement Clause with particular attention to:

The education of staff and executives involved in procurement of goods and services

The ongoing review of supply agreements and supply chains.

During the reporting period covered by this statement Belgravia Group has not become aware of any Modern Slavery situations.

Assessing the Effectiveness of Belgravia Group's Modern Slavery actions

Modern Slavery forms part of Belgravia Group's Code of Conduct, which is provided to employees as part of their onboarding process.

The Modern Slavery efforts are part of Belgravia Group's published Social Responsibility approach, which can be found here: www.belgraviagroup.com.au/social-responsibility/

The Belgravia Group Board and the executives of all business units are regularly briefed on the activities of the Modern Slavery Working Group.

Consultation across Belgravia Group entities

The first action by the Belgravia Group Board in relation to Modern Slavery obligations was to establish a working group with senior management level representation by all relevant business units exposed to risks of Modern Slavery in their operations and/or supply chains.
