Our Operations & Supply Chains

Goldfields is party to the following key agreements (Key Agreement), based in Australia, which is the main source of Goldfields operations and supply chains.

Development Management Agreement with Lendlease (Goldfields) Development Manager Pty Ltd (LLGDM), a wholly owned entity of Lendlease Development Pty Ltd (LLD), who in turn, is wholly owned by Lendlease Group, for development management services including design development and planning, financial modelling and management, design and construct contractor selection and management and delivery of the completed hotel development to the owner.

Design and Construction Contract (as Principal) with Lendlease Construction Pty Ltd (LLC), a wholly owned entity of the Lendlease Group, to design, supply, construct, install, commission and complete the works which the Design and Construction Contractor is required to perform under the Design and Construction Contract.

As LLGDM is wholly owned by LLD, who is wholly owned by Lendlease Group, and LLC are wholly owned by Lendlease Group, the management of supply chain imperatives across its operations, including modern slavery risk, is increasingly embedded in the Lendlease Group investment and operational decision-making, and in how Lendlease Group account for its ESG performance. See the Lendlease Group's five focus areas below for more information.

Modern Slavery Risk Governance

Goldfields is committed to robust corporate governance policies and practices.

Goldfields observes the corporate governance practices of the Lendlease Group, who have a multi-layered approach to the identification, management, and mitigation of external, corporate, and operational risk. Risk management is a key oversight responsibility of the Lendlease Group's Board.

The image adjacent describes the Lendlease Group's 'Three Lines of Defence' when assessing, managing and mitigating risks across its operations.

In FY24, Lendlease Group's response to modern slavery risk mitigation is led by the Supply Chain function, in coordination with business operations. Lendlease Groups progress against the modern slavery risk mitigation strategy is overseen by the Lendlease Group's Chief Operating Officer and Chief Legal officer, with board-level engagement.

Supply Chain Risk

Goldfields relies on Lendlease's Group supply chain risk framework to respond to modern slavery risks, supported by the robustness of corporate governance, risk planning and capability development, integrated systems, tools and standards, as well as insights from targeted supplier risk assessments and audits.

Lendlease Group's regional supply chain monitoring continues to focus on pre-empting or mitigating modern slavery risk impacts.

In FY24, the Lendlease Group Supply Chain function built internal organisational capacity to interpret supplier risk-screened analytics, due diligence, and responsible sourcing analyses, and to understand the impacts of our business on our stakeholders, as we continue to monitor and align to the UN Guiding Principles.

Modern Slavery Risks in our Operations of entities covered by this statement

During its operations, Goldfields relies upon the business systems and processes of the Lendlease Group.

Accordingly, Goldfields had the benefit of the Lendlease Group's modern slavery risk assessment which take the following perspectives:

To assess our modern slavery risks, we take the following perspectives:

Applying Principle 17 of the UN Guiding Principles across our value chain.

Leveraging the salient human rights risks identified by the Lendlease ESG Working Group and mapping of modern slavery risks in our Operations and Supply Chains.

Understanding the modern slavery risks of our top 10 'high priority' trade categories. As Lendlease Group is a project-based business, the modern slavery risks centre around labour, either through:

- direct contracted labour across our operations, including casual, self-employed, directly employed, or engaged through our contractors, sub-contractors, in our corporate or asset operations (however, as noted earlier, Goldfields is not an employing entity); and / or
- indirect labour in our supply chains engaged in the production of materials and products or contracted for our projects

This financial year, the Lendlease Group refined the approach in assessing modern slavery risks across 3 perspectives, informed by:

- Desktop research and risk analysis from a range of third-party sources including, Lendlease Group inhouse research, third party risk intelligence insights, government data, industry and NGO research insights
- Lendlease Group Supplier engagement
- Engagement with Lendlease Group business operations leaders
- Insights from the Lendlease Group annual supply chain audit program
- Engagement with expert stakeholders through industry and multi-stakeholder initiatives

Consistent with the Lendlease Group, Goldfields recognises potential elevated risks of modern slavery when engaging through a development manager and ultimately a design and construct contractor who are both subcontracting works and procuring materials through complex supply chains.

Furthermore, in line with Lendlease Group, contracted labour and finishes materials presented the most relevant areas of risk from modern slavery in the delivery of the One Circular Quay hotel development during the FY24 reporting period.

Goldfields relies on the modern slavery risk mitigation processes Lendlease Group has in place to manage potential risks.

For more information on the potential risks across the Lendlease Group's supply chain and operations, please refer to pages 11 - 18 of the Lendlease Group Modern Slavery Statement FY24.

Remediation

In line with Lendlease Group, contractors and suppliers are requested to go through the Lendlease Group's modern slavery risk due diligence processes, including identifying what measures they have in place for non-retaliatory grievance mechanisms and remediation. It is a priority area of enquiry in the Lendlease Group's labour practices audits, and where such information is not sufficiently provided, further written details are sought directly from the supplier on their implementation approach and level of process embedment.

Lendlease Group also offer the option to knowledge share with those suppliers to help them develop a remediation approach. It is recognised there is not a 'one size fits all' approach to providing remedy, and that a legitimate remediation response is tailored to the particular facts of a situation.
