STATEMENT OF THE REPORTING ENTITY

Kogan.com Limited (the Company; Kogan.com; ASX:KGN; the Group) has prepared this Modern Slavery Statement in accordance with the Australian Modern Slavery Act 2018 (the Act) and with regard to the Commonwealth Modern Slavery Act 2018 Guidance for Reporting Entities (the Guidance) in relation to the financial year ending 30 June 2021.

This Statement outlines the measures taken by the Company during the financial year ended 30 June 2021 to reduce the risk of modern slavery¹ occurring in the Company's businesses or its supply chain.

Kogan.com opposes modern slavery in all its forms.

¹ Modern slavery, as defined in the Guidance, is used to describe situations where coercion, threats, or deception are used to exploit victims and undermine or deprive them of their freedom; it refers to serious exploitation of people

At Kogan.com people are central to everything we do, from our customers, team members, suppliers and people within our indirect supply chains. We are committed as an organisation to understanding, respecting and upholding human rights, fair working conditions and environmental protection within our operations and supply chains.

CHAIRMAN'S LETTER

We operate our business with a high regard to Corporate Governance and at all times are transparent to our Shareholders, team members and suppliers - we hold ourselves to a high standard and apply the same expectations to our partners.

This is Kogan.com's second Modern Slavery Statement, which highlights the measures taken to reduce the risk of modern slavery occurring in the Company's businesses or its supply chain.

Like FY20, FY21 required businesses to continue navigating the uncertain nature of the pandemic. Businesses globally have had to navigate these difficult times and, indeed, with individuals and families who have seen their lives influenced and changed in so many ways.

Throughout the year, we stayed true to the Company's mission and values in spite of these continued obstacles. We take our obligations under the Modern Slavery Act seriously and we are committed to the ongoing review and improvement of our contribution and impact on human rights whilst making the most in-demand products and services more affordable and accessible.

This Statement was approved by the Board of Kogan.com Limited.

These offerings, when combined with Kogan Marketplace, Mighty Ape and Kogan Mobile accounted for 92.3% of Gross Profit in FY21.

SUPPLY CHAINS

Kogan.com’s supply chains are sophisticated and span the globe. The Company has adopted a risk-based approach in assessing which areas of business may have greater potential for modern slavery to occur and determined the scope accordingly. Based on the risk assessment (described in more detail below), the review was focused on tier one suppliers of products for Kogan retail and services with procurement purchases above a determined threshold during the financial year.

The Kogan retail supply chain includes the manufacture and transportation of the products sold through the business. This includes Exclusive Brands and Third-Party Brands . In this context, the supply chain includes the overseas factories where the products are made, the importation of the products into Australia and the subsequent sale and distribution of the products to customers. Kogan.com’s diverse portfolio covers a vast range of electronic, homewares, apparel, office and technology products.

Kogan.com’s services supply chain includes services that support its operations, including IT, logistics, marketing and, at a more micro level, the cleaning and security businesses servicing the Kogan.com office and other locations.

Suppliers for Kogan retail and services are located in Australia, China, Vietnam, India, Hong Kong and the United Kingdom.

MODERN SLAVERY RISKS

All products and services have the potential to carry modern slavery risks in their operations and supply chains. Considered in the context of the Company, these inherent risks are complex and evolving. Kogan.com is selective in engaging suppliers to ensure modern slavery risks are minimised, however understands these risks can be difficult to entirely eliminate or may be unknowable; therefore, the Company has identified where inherent modern slavery risks may exist in business activities by considering the key sources of those risks. These potential risks are continuously reviewed and assessed over time to ensure risk exposure is minimised and where appropriate expand the review across the business.

SCOPING MODERN SLAVERY RISKS

Kogan.com conducted a scoping exercise to determine which parts of its operations and supply chains may involve a higher-level of modern slavery risks in regard to the Guidance and the Global Slavery Index.

The scoping exercise included the following key activities:

1. Mapping of the overall operations and supply chain. This mapping was used to identify the general sectors and industries, types of products and services, countries and entities that are involved in the operations and supply chains.
2. Completing a review of sectors, products and services, countries and entities that may involve high modern slavery risks. The level of risk associated with modern slavery does not correlate with the cost of products and services procured.
3. Assessing the potential indirect supply chains which the business may have limited visibility of and/or control over and considering the nature and severity of any potential modern slavery risks.

UNDERSTANDING MODERN SLAVERY RISK

- Sector and industry risks: Some sectors and industries may carry modern slavery risks because of their characteristics, products and processes. For example, extractives, textiles and fashion, electronics and cleaning are recognised as higher-risk industries globally.
- Product and services risks: Some products and services may carry modern slavery risks because of the way they are produced, provided or used. For example, cotton is recognised as a higher-risk product globally, while services such as cleaning often involve lower wages and manual labour and may be more prone to modern slavery practices.
- Geographic risks: Some countries may carry modern slavery risks due to poor governance, weak rule of law, conflict, migration flows and socio-economic factors like poverty.
- Entity risks: Some entities may carry modern slavery risks because they have poor governance structures, leading to poor treatment workers track record of human rights violations.

Considering these sources of modern slavery risks along with the operations and supply chains of Kogan retail and services, the following potential risks have been identified:

- Deceptive recruiting for labour or services: When a person is deceived about their work and their work involves exploitation through a type of modern slavery
- Forced labour: When a person does not consider themselves free to stop working or to leave their place of work because of coercion, threat or deception
- Worst forms of child labour: When children are engaged in work likely to harm them including working in hazardous environments

These risks are specific to countries and products / services sourced with the areas of highest probability outlined in the following table:

COUNTRY	RISKS	PRODUCT / SERVICE SOURCED
Australia	Deceptive recruiting for labour or services	Cleaning contractors Marketing / data services
China	Forced labour	Cotton home textiles Consumer electronics and accessories
	Deceptive recruiting for labour or services, forced labour	Logistics / shipping of goods
United Kingdom	Forced labour	IT services

In addition to the Company's risk assessment process, alternate outlets such as media stories and relevant reports are reviewed regularly to stay informed of emerging human rights risks. Going forward, heightened modern slavery risks are anticipated due to the ongoing global management of COVID-19 (discussed further below).

Emerging risks and opportunities are assessed and considered by the Board and the Committee. All team members are responsible for reporting any new potential risks or changes to existing risks to management as soon as they become aware of the risk.

MANAGING RISKS THROUGH SUPPLIER AGREEMENTS AND AUDITS

Kogan.com's contracting process with direct suppliers is a key element of its strategy to mitigate modern slavery risks in the global supply chain. Suppliers are evaluated to identify the potential risks associated in their operations against Kogan.com's Ethical & Sustainable Sourcing Policy.

Kogan.com engages with commercial organisations who are reputable with products of high quality. The Company manages modern slavery risks in its supply chain through following the Vendor Selection and Master Data Process (VSMDP) and requiring suppliers to commit to the Kogan.com Supplier Agreement and Ethical & Sustainable Sourcing Policy.

EXTRACT FROM OUR SUPPLIER AGREEMENT

The Supplier warrants to Kogan.com that it:

- i. has, and will continue to, take all steps necessary to ensure there is no modern slavery in its supply chains or the supply chains of its sub-contractors;
- ii. has, and will continue to, implement, review and amend (as necessary) due diligence procedures for its own suppliers and sub-contractors to ensure that there is no modern slavery in its supply chains or the supply chains of its sub-contractors;
- iii. will notify Kogan.com immediately if it becomes aware of any actual, or suspected, modern slavery in its supply chains, or the supply chains of its sub-contractors; and
- iv. will maintain complete, accurate and up-to-date Records in relation to its supply chains and the supply chains of its sub-contractors, including in respect of its modern slavery due diligence procedures.

Violations to any of these may result in further investigation, penalties and / or termination of the agreement.

Kogan.com utilises a risk-based approach in determining which due diligence processes to follow for new and existing suppliers.

Independent third-party audits, dated within 12 months from a respected auditing provider, are required of suppliers who will supply products in excess of a predetermined threshold. BSCI audits have been completed for key suppliers, through which an evaluation of the supplier's processes and working conditions was completed. Where available, Modern Slavery Statements or other forms of assurance produced by suppliers is obtained for record keeping.

ENGAGEMENT AND RELATIONSHIPS

Kogan.com values the importance of collaborating with industry-wide initiatives, government and non-government organisations in managing modern slavery risks. The Company supports the declarations, objectives and principles of the International Labour Organisation (ILO) and the Ethical Trading Initiative (ETI) which are based on the principles of the United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

TRAINING AND DEVELOPING CAPABILITY

Kogan.com values the importance of developing the capability of our team members across all teams through various training programs. Kogan.com's buying and procurement team members, who regularly communicate with suppliers, are adept at recognising and addressing potential indicators of modern slavery risks should they arise. Specific modern slavery training will be scheduled for the next reporting period. Potential modern slavery risks are discussed in day-to-day communications as required internally and with suppliers should it be required.

GRIEVANCE MECHANISMS

Kogan.com has established reporting mechanisms and resolution processes whereby team members and third-parties can report concerns relating to unethical or illegal activities including human rights and modern slavery. Grievance mechanisms and resolution processes are managed through the Whistleblower, Anti-Discrimination and Harassment, and Workplace Bullying policies. The Company reviews grievance data to identify any trends and performs an analysis to determine the root cause of potential issues raised.

REMIEDIATION

Where instances of non-compliance with Company policies or procedures are identified, the supplier must remediate the issue within an appropriate period of time, determined by the nature and severity of the instance. Kogan.com's audit process supports remediating supplier non-compliance by addressing any issues, which ultimately improves conditions for workers. If a supplier is not willing or able to address instances of non-compliance or it is considered too severe to remediate, the Company will no longer purchase from the supplier.

IMPACT OF COVID-19 ON HUMAN RIGHTS AND MODERN SLAVERY

Events related to the Coronavirus pandemic (COVID-19) have resulted in significant human and economic impacts around the world. There is continued uncertainty as to ongoing and future response of governments and authorities globally. As such, the full impacts of COVID-19 on consumer behaviour, suppliers, employees and the business are not fully known. It is possible that the consequences of COVID-19 may have increased inherent modern slavery risks in parts of Kogan.com's operations and supply chains.

Delivering strong growth in the business in the midst of an extremely turbulent and challenging period for the world and country has enabled Kogan.com to help Australians in their time of need and provide continued support for suppliers.

To assess and better understand the risks resulting from COVID-19, Kogan.com engaged with suppliers to consider the impacts on their operations. This included reviewing new resources about the heightened risks, considering the approach taken by the industry, consulting with business peers, investors and team members, and updating risk assessments.

EFFECTIVENESS OF ACTIONS TAKEN

Currently no single international standard exists for measuring the impact on human rights based on specific measures or criteria, which makes assessing the effectiveness of actions taken in addressing modern slavery risks challenging for all organisations. Kogan.com has worked towards an assessment related to modern slavery risks in its operations and supply chain. Key actions taken include:

GOVERNANCE

1. Overview and monitoring of processes and procedures by the Board and senior management; this includes discussions held with the Executive Directors and at Board meetings
2. Periodic review by the Committee of the Group's risk profile and material business risks
3. Periodic review and update of Supplier Agreements to ensure they remain fit for purpose and adequately assess modern slavery risks.

THIRD PARTY ETHICAL AND SUSTAINABILITY AUDIT PROGRAMS

4. Based on the Company's risk-based approach, Kogan.com conducted third-party audits through BSCI for key suppliers. Audits performed during the year did not identify modern slavery risk in Kogan.com's tier one suppliers.

EFFECTIVENESS OF COMPLAINTS OR GRIEVANCE MECHANISMS

5. Kogan.com provided effective company-based grievance mechanisms to identify and escalate potential issues pursuant to Kogan.com's Whistleblower Policy. Team members are actively encouraged to voice their concerns without fear of retribution and with full confidentiality, if required. During the year there were no reports of modern slavery concerns received.

CONSULTATION WITHIN THE GROUP

Kogan.com consulted with relevant team members within the Group for the purpose of this Statement, including members of the Senior Leadership Team. The consultation process was risk-based and included those entities owned and controlled by Kogan.com with active business operations. Mighty Ape is part of the Kogan.com Group and is in the process of being integrated into Kogan.com's Ethical & Sustainable Sourcing Policy and Modern Slavery Statement. It was not considered necessary to consult with owned and controlled entities which exist principally for corporate reasons and do not have active business operations.

LOOKING FORWARD

Kogan.com recognises that continuous improvement is a key element of an effective response to modern slavery risks. In the course of conducting analysis and assessments for the purpose of this Statement, Kogan.com has considered a range of potential initiatives which may support continuous improvement. These include amendments to the current modern slavery governance and policy requirements, risk and compliance measures, and activities to promote awareness and enhance capability through its supply chain and operations.

Kogan.com will prioritise these potential initiatives having regard to the nature and extent of the Company's risk profile and the reasonably anticipated benefits. Continued targeted training and discussion on modern slavery for team members is an important ongoing initiative which will be delivered through the course of the next reporting period.
