As such, throughout the reporting year and ongoing, we seek to engage our suppliers in a collaborative way to build strong and transparent relationships.

We see this as a crucial undertaking to ensure conversations about the risks of modern slavery can take place, leading to an increased awareness and a better understanding of how to mitigate the risks across operations and the collective supply chain. CREDIT CORP'S GLOBAL SUPPLY CHAIN

During the 2022 financial year, credit corp spent over $60m with suppliers to procure goods and services to support its global operations.

Credit Corp's supply chain is made up of over 1,400 suppliers including suppliers of information, property services, insurance, technology, marketing, communications, legal and professional services, cleaning, security, office supplies, and process serving.

Around 94% of our spend with suppliers relates to services, with the significant majority being Australian based professional services providers. Over 85% of all of our suppliers are based in Australia, New Zealand or the United States of America.

Risks of Modern Slavery practices in Credit Corp's Operations and Supply Chain

Our annual assessment was conducted in relation to identifying and minimising Credit Corp's risk to modern slavery within our global operations and supply chain.

We consider modern slavery risk in our operations and supply chain to be low across all jurisdictions. Credit Corp recognises that its extended supply chain poses a greater risk of modern slavery than that of our operations.

In the process of assessing this risk, we had regard to:

- The strong bias in our supply chain spend towards professional services sourced domestically or from countries assessed to be low risk on the Global Slavery Index.
- The relatively simple nature of our supply chain; and
- The limited footprint of suppliers operating in jurisdictions considered high risk, or supplying categories of goods or services deemed high risk under the Global Slavery Index.

The risks are further mitigated by our focus on supplier due diligence, both at on-boarding and on an ongoing basis, and contractual obligations, including mandated adherence to the Credit Corp Supplier Code of Conduct.

In addition to contracted suppliers, Credit Corp procures goods and services through corporate purchasing cards for expenses such as travel, office supplies and sundry expenses.

Credit Corp's Modern Slavery Risk Assessment has focused on our operations and Tier 1 Suppliers.

Notwithstanding the low risk within our tier 1 supply chain, we consider that the risk of modern slavery may be heightened beyond that first tier. We have focused our efforts on implementing a Supplier Code of Conduct and contractual obligations for our tier 1 suppliers extending to the suppliers that they engage.

Our journey in assessing the risk within our supply chain is continuing. Continued monitoring of higher risk areas within our extended supply chain will allow us to further focus our efforts on effective risk mitigation.

Actions taken to assess and address Modern Slavery Risk - Due Diligence and Remediation Process

We recognise that educating our employees and relevant stakeholders is a key step to ensuring that modern slavery risk in our operations and supply chains can be understood, recognised and escalated for intervention.

In 2022, we continued our focus on advancing our existing policies and the following progress was made. We:

- strengthened our Modern Slavery supplier auditing in areas of heightened risk to better understand the risk of modern slavery in our supply chain.
- continued to implement and roll out the Credit Corp Supplier Code of Conduct ('SCoC'), setting clear expectations of our suppliers in relation to compliance, ethical conduct and fair dealing, including in relation to modern slavery.
- enforced the inclusion of contractual clauses in our Group supplier contracts and model contracts that require new suppliers to agree to the SCoC as part of the agreement phase.
- continued our training program to help our people understand potential modern slavery risks in our operations and supply chain, recognise potential red flags and escalate them for review and intervention.
- conducted a risk assessment of our operations and tier 1 suppliers to better understand the modern slavery risk and priority areas for risk mitigation.

This statement marks the third year of reporting in relation to our controls around preventing modern slavery and assessing the risk in our operations and supply chain. As a result of the strong foundations that were established in 2020 we have seen significant progress through working with our suppliers. We look forward to continuing our journey of collaboration to mitigate risk and playing our part in protecting fundamental human rights.

Process for assessing the effectiveness of Modern Slavery Risk Management

CREDIT CORP HAS A STRONG FOCUS ON CONTINUOUS IMPROVEMENT; THIS ALLOWS US TO ASSESS THE EFFECTIVENESS OF OUR MODERN SLAVERY RISK MANAGEMENT IN OUR OPERATIONS AND SUPPLY CHAIN

Throughout 2022, our Compliance team continued to measure the progress of our modern slavery initiatives and the effectiveness of our risk management.

This included:

- Measuring the number of suppliers who have agreed to be formally bound to our SCoC;
- Measuring the completion rates for training within our operations in relation to the SCoC and modern slavery risk;
- Measuring the completion rates of supplier onboarding and the ongoing due diligence process;
- Recording and analysing the quality of audit responses, audit outcomes and remediation commitments in our supply chain;
- Recording instances of breaches by suppliers against our SCoC; and
- Implementing processes to record any instance of breach where our modern slavery risk assessment did not identify the relevant risk.

DURING THE REPORTING PERIOD, WE HAVE MORE THAN DOUBLED THE NUMBER OF SUBSCRIBERS TO OUR SCoC.

Consultation process for preparing a Joint Statement

Credit Corp's modern slavery working group contains senior stakeholders engaged in human resources, legal and compliance, and supplier engagement functions.

The working group meets on a regular basis to consider the modern slavery risks in our operations and supply chains, and to review actions to address those risks. The working group is also responsible for the review and preparation of this joint Modern Slavery Statement.

The Statement has been reviewed and endorsed by the Credit Corp Board of Directors.
