Human Rights Risk Mapping

Mitsui has assessed our global supply chains in 2020 by assessing 3,128 transactions conducted by the head office and 7,820 transactions conducted by its oversea office (which includes MIOC) from the human rights perspective broadly including modern slavery risks using human rights risk mapping, together with advice from and consultation with independent experts.

The assessment was based on leading international human rights risk indicators and other tools such as the "List of Goods Produced by Child Labor or Forced Labor" of Bureau of International Labor Affairs (ILAB) and "Global Map of Environmental and Social Risks in Agro-Commodity Production" of International Finance Corporation (IFC), placing emphasis on the core labour standards identified by the International Labour Organization (ILO).

Through this process, none of the existing suppliers of MIOC have been identified as high-risk combinations. MIOC also engages suppliers of banking and professional services (such as major banks, legal, accounting and consultancy firms). MIOC has confirmed that these professional service providers have responsible supply chain policies and where applicable, report their anti-modern slavery statements. We noted these professional firms in Australia are unlikely to have high-risk combinations in their supply chain due to the nature of their business.

4. Managing risk – s 16(1)(d) of the Act

Policies and monitoring framework

First of all, MIOC maintains its Business Conduct Guidelines, which oblige the company and its people to conduct our business in a manner that respect human rights and does not involve any modern slavery practices. The Guidelines also prohibit discrimination on the basis of any protected attribute under the law. The Guidelines are MIOC's principal code of conduct of our employees and contractors, who are required to understand and adhere to the Guidelines throughout their employment or engagement.

We also have in place reporting route available for both internal and external reporting in case of any complaints or concerns regarding our modern slavery obligations.

Actions taken

For the financial year ending March 2021:

- Sustainable Procurement Policy – we have implemented this policy which sets out our expectations for our suppliers (and sub-suppliers) to prevent and eliminate modern slavery, as well as our intentions to audit, monitor and if necessary, terminate business transactions in case of continued non-compliance.
- Survey Questionnaire – for monitoring purposes, MIOC, in consultations with Mitsui and its affiliated company MCA is currently studying a modern slavery (and sustainability) survey questionnaire for existing and new suppliers to assess their compliance and understanding of the regime, such as whether they have relevant policies, written contracts, training and reporting route systems.
- Business Conduct Guidelines – MIOC's Mitsui Business Conduct Guidelines includes a segment dedicated to complying with law & respect for Human Rights which includes modern slavery. This is where staff are informed of modern slavery risks in the context of our trading and investment business model. This Guideline is shared with all our employees on their orientation and is continuously updated to remain relevant.

5. Assessing effectiveness and looking ahead – s 16(1)(e) of the Act

In the financial year ending 31 March 2022, we intend to conduct in addition to the desk top research in current financial year, the survey for our suppliers to assess the modern slavery risks, analyse the survey responses and engage with relevant stakeholders (e.g., Board of Directors, President & Managing Director, General Managers) to discuss what appropriate actions can be taken, if required. The quality and quantity of the disclosures will provide some insight as to the effectiveness of our actions, and our approach to continuously improving our management of any identified risks.

We recognise that the risks of modern slavery are complex and evolving. We will continue to work to address these risks in our business and engage with a range of stakeholders to assess the effectiveness of our actions and enhance our approach.

I, Motoi Yamamoto, hereby certify that this Modern Slavery Statement 2021 has been approved by the Board of Directors of Mitsui Iron Ore Corporation Pty Ltd on 29 September 2021.
