Risk assessment and mitigation

DKSH recognize the importance of understanding and being able to describe the risks of modern slavery practices in our operations and supply chain. Therefore, we will be undertaking the following steps:

1. Assessing the potential modern slavery risks in our operations and supply chains with emphasis on geographical locations and business transactions with a prevalence of modern slavery identified by the Global Slavery Index.
2. Developing and reviewing company policies on modern slavery in operations and supply chains.
3. Developing training for staff in modern slavery requirements.
4. Preparing to conduct due diligence on local and global supply chains. Such as commencing audits of key suppliers via a targeted questionnaire.
5. Reviewing supplier contracts to ensure they contain terms that are consistent with the Modern Slavery Act 2018.

6. Taking steps to address any potential modern slavery risks identified. Such as introducing a mandatory questionnaire to new suppliers to enable initial risk assessment.
7. Setting up a framework to measure effectiveness through performance monitoring.

Looking forward

DKSH is committed to conducting business in an ethical and responsible manner. This includes respecting internationally recognized human rights throughout our operations and taking steps to manage the risk of modern slavery in its supply chain.

DKSH will continue to work and increase collaboration with internal and external stakeholders to prevent and address any contribution that DKSH may have to the global issue of modern slavery. DKSH will achieve this by focusing on raising awareness of the forms of modern slavery among our employees and suppliers, continuing to evolve our due diligence processes to aid in the identification of risks, expanding the scope of our supply chain risk assessment, reviewing existing processes and exploring ways to improve identification and action on risks throughout our supply chain.
