Sustainability at Mitsui: Sustainability - Mitsui & Co. \(Australia\) Ltd.

We understand that we need to lead by example in the way we do business. We operate by a set of values which shapes the way we think, work and act to ensure we are helping people to achieve their ambitions – in the right way.

This also means we aim to act fairly, ethically and openly in everything we do. We are committed to combating the risk of modern slavery in our supply chains or in any part of our business.

3. Assessing risk – s 16(1)(c) of the Act

Assessment

Mitsui Australia has a unique business portfolio and organisational structure. Our supply base is diverse, including small and medium-sized businesses, as well as multinational corporations. Many of our direct suppliers have their own extensive supply chains, connecting us with businesses worldwide. We have a robust process that aims to ensure we only work with appropriate suppliers who can meet the standards that we expect.

Human Rights Risk Mapping

Mitsui Tokyo has assessed our global supply chains in 2020 by assessing 3,128 transactions conducted by the head office and 7,820 transactions conducted by its overseas office (which includes Mitsui Australia) from the human rights perspective broadly including modern slavery risks using human rights risk mapping, together with advice from and consultation with independent experts.

The assessment was based on leading international human rights risk indicators and other tools such as the “List of Goods Produced by Child Labor or Forced Labor” of Bureau of International Labor Affairs (ILAB) and “Global Map of Environmental and Social Risks in Agro-Commodity Production” of International Finance Corporation (IFC), placing emphasis on the core labour standards identified by the International Labour Organization (ILO).

Through the risk mapping assessment, Mitsui Tokyo assess inherent country risks and industry risks and identified 84 high risk combinations - ie a list of source country-procured goods combinations - such as garments manufactured in Bangladesh, rice produced in Myanmar, and coffee produced in Colombia, sesame in Myanmar and coconuts in Philippines.

Through this process, none of the existing suppliers of Mitsui Australia have been identified in the high-risk combinations, except rubber products made in China from a supplier in Singapore. Mitsui Australia are satisfied, however, based on a preliminary analysis and its longstanding and reliable track record with Mitsui Australia, that the supplier has human rights policy and trainings in its global operations, taking labour practices and occupational health and safety as a priority.

Mitsui Australia also engages suppliers of banking and professional services (such as major banks, legal, accounting and engineering firms). Mitsui Australia has confirmed on desk top research that most of the major professional service providers have responsible supply chain policies and anti-modern slavery statements, and that these professional firms in Australia are unlikely to have high-risk combinations in their supply chain due to the nature of their business.

We still plan to undertake a detailed assessment of these suppliers.

4. Managing risk - s 16(1)(d) of the Act

Policies and monitoring framework

First of all, Mitsui Australia maintains its Business Conduct Guidelines, which oblige the company and its people to conduct our business in a manner that respects human rights and does not involve any modern slavery practices. The Guidelines also prohibit discrimination on the basis of any protected attribute under the law. The Guidelines are Mitsui Australia's principal code of conduct for our employees and contractors, who are required to understand and adhere to the Guidelines throughout their employment or engagement.

We also have a Whistleblower Policy in place with the reporting route available for both internal and external reports in case of any complaint or concern regarding our modern slavery obligations.

Actions taken

For the Japanese financial year ending March 2021:

- Standard Sales Contract – we continued to adopt our standard sales contract with suppliers, where possible, which oblige our suppliers to comply with modern slavery law.
- Sustainable Procurement Policy - we have implemented and published this policy in June 2020 on our website accessible to the public and shared with our 60 existing suppliers. The policy sets out our expectations for our suppliers (and sub-suppliers) to prevent and eliminate modern slavery, as well as our intentions to audit, monitor, and terminate business in case of continued non-compliance.
- Survey Questionnaire - For monitoring purposes, Mitsui Australia, in consultation with Mitsui Tokyo, is currently preparing the modern slavery (and sustainability) survey questionnaire for existing and new suppliers to assess their compliance and understanding of the regime, such as whether they have relevant policies, written contracts, training and whistleblower system.
- Business Conduct Guidelines (e-learning) – our e-learning Mitsui Business Conduct Guidelines course include a module dedicated to modern slavery where we can learn modern slavery risks in the context of our trading and investment business model. This e-learning course is compulsory for all of our employees.

5. Assessing effectiveness and looking ahead - s 16(1)(e) of the Act

In the financial year ending March 2022, we intend to conduct the survey for our suppliers to assess the modern slavery risks, analyse the survey responses and engage our internal key divisions (e.g., business divisions, human resources, legal and sustainability) to discuss what appropriate actions can be taken. The quality and quantity of the disclosures will provide some insight as to the effectiveness of our actions, and our approach to continuously improving our management of the identified risks.

We recognise that the risks of modern slavery are complex and evolving. We will continue to work to address these risks in our business and engage with a range of stakeholders to assess the effectiveness of our actions and enhance our approach.
