This is the joint statement for the NQXT Group.

The NQXT Group is part of the global conglomerate, Adani Group and is committed to combating the risk of modern slavery in our supply chains and in any part of our business. As one of the goals of the Adani Group is to act with integrity, we strive to act fairly, ethically, and openly in everything that we do.

This Modern Slavery Statement is prepared in accordance with the Act and describes the Risks of Modern Slavery in NQXT Group's business, steps we have taken and planning of the next steps to be taken during the financial year, ended 31st March 2020, to identify, manage and mitigate the risks in our operations and supply chains and how we evaluate the effectiveness of our responses.

For the purposes of this statement, references to 'We', 'Us' and 'Our' collectively refers to NQXT Group and each of its reporting entities covered by the statement.

2. THE NQXT STRUCTURE, OPERATIONS AND SUPPLY CHAINS

2.1. STRUCTURE

NQXTHPL is an Australian Proprietary Company, that was established in 2011 and is headquartered in Brisbane, Queensland. NQXTHPL is the holding company of North Queensland Export Terminal Pty Ltd (NQXTPL).

NQXTPPL is an Australian Proprietary Company, that was established in 2011 and is headquartered in Brisbane, Queensland. NQXTPPL is the holding company of NQXT Holdings Trust (NQXTHT) and NQXT Holdings Pty Ltd (NQXTHPL).

NQXTPL together with NQXTHT owns the North Queensland Export Terminal (NQXT or Terminal) in north Queensland. Close to a decade since privatisation in 2011, NQXT Group continues to be the owner of a strategic asset to Queensland due to the proximity of the Terminal to the resource rich Bowen Basin and Galilee Basin, its remote location from urban development, and access to deep water.

NQXT Group is controlled by Abbot Point Port Holdings Pte Ltd, a Singapore registered company.

2.2. OPERATIONS

At the date of making this statement, NQXT Group has 8 employees based in our Brisbane office. Employees are employed under individual contracts.

NQXT Group has one major long-term Operations and Maintenance Contract (O&M Contract) in place with another Adani Group owned Company, "Abbot Point Operations Pty Ltd" (APO) under which NQXTPL contracts out the operation and maintenance function of the Terminal to APO. Pursuant to the terms of the O&M Contract, APO is responsible for all servicing and maintenance as well as operating the Terminal on a daily basis. Accordingly, as owners of the Terminal, NQXT Group does not have oversight or visibility of the procurement and supply chain activities of the Terminal operator. However, NQXT is in the process of assessing a number of risk assessment frameworks that can be embedded in our governance processes that will enable us to assist and satisfy ourselves that APO are trading ethically. Further, NQXT Group is in the process of getting advice in developing a strategy that will embed provisions into its O&M Contract aimed at the identification and mitigation of modern slavery risks. This will also likely include additional due diligence requirements for completion under the terms of the O&M Contract that will give the NQXT Group better insight into how APO are mitigating the risk of Modern Slavery in its supply chains and also provide support to APO in pursuit of that objective.

In addition, the NQXT Group contributes to the sustainability of the local communities in which we operate. Our contributions to the community focus on education and the environment.

The interests outlined above form the key investments of NQXT's business.

2.3. SUPPLY CHAINS

We are an infrastructure company, with employees located in Brisbane. We facilitate the export minerals essential to human progress and development and by doing so efficiently and effectively, we aim to deliver superior returns to our shareholder while safeguarding the environment and meeting our wider obligations to society. Our website (www.nqxt.com.au) provides more detailed information about our business, including our strategy, philosophy, and operations, as well as our approach to sustainability. NQXT manages a small number of approximately 50 suppliers primarily located within Australia. Our procurement team manage the majority of this spend, with the support of our finance, legal and human resources team.

NQXT Group continues to enhance its processes and implement new processes aimed at ensuring that we only work with appropriate suppliers who can meet the standards that we expect. Most of our direct suppliers by value are from Australia. When measured by value, most of our payments are made to suppliers in Australia.

As part of our commitment to local procurement, where needed, we provide prospective suppliers with technical support to help them meet our procurement standards. We source a relatively narrow variety of goods and services including professional services (financial and legal mainly from leading accounting and legal firms within Australia, where geographical risk is assessed as low in regard to modern slavery. Based on our current processes, we believe our exposure to Modern Slavery Risk is likely to be low. Other risk-based frameworks are being considered as additional tools to ensure suppliers are acting in line with NQXT Group's expectations.

3. MODERN SLAVERY RISKS IN OPERATIONS AND SUPPLY CHAINS

The nature of the NQXT Group's business relates to the ownership of major infrastructure. As outlined above, our direct supply chain is narrow and is limited to goods and services procured for the administration of port ownership and its operations.

In relation to NQXT Group's operations, we have a limited footprint which relates to our exposure to our coal producing customers (the Users of the Port). The Terminal is operated by another entity under an O&M Contract. The O&M Contractor exercises control or oversight over the identification and management of Modern Slavery Risks associated with the Terminal operations.

However, we seek to manage our exposure to Modern Slavery Risks by selecting partners and counterparties, with strong governance and human rights practices and ensuring they have adequate risk mitigation processes. Current processes include initial due diligence and research on our corporate partners to assess their publicly stated stance on addressing the risk of Modern Slavery (This is further discussed in section 4.)

NQXT acquires the majority of its goods and services under the Standard Purchase Contract.

Upon implementation of new processes, new suppliers will be required to complete the NQXT Group supplier questionnaire, thereby providing NQXT the opportunity to assess their supply chain and potential modern slavery risks before purchasing goods or services.

5. EFFECTIVENESS

NQXT Group continues to develop processes to assess the effectiveness of actions taken by the Terminal Operator to respond to modern slavery risks with respect to its supply chains and operations. This includes ensuring that the Terminal operator carries out adequate due diligence on its partners in the Terminal's supply chain

NQXT Group has commenced formalisation and documentation of the following internal actions to ensure the effectiveness of its own actions:

- Discussions with entities within the group of NQXT companies on their reporting of identified risks of modern slavery within NQXT Group's operations supply chain and how this is managed.
