INTRODUCTION: COMPANY COMMITMENT AND PLEDGE

This Forced Labour, Modern Slavery and Human Trafficking Statement is made pursuant to the Modern Slavery Act 2018 by Bidfood Australia Limited (Bidfood) (ABN 33 000 228 231) in respect of Bidfood Australia and its related bodies corporate.

This statement demonstrates our commitment to ethical trading, tackling modern slavery and the steps being taken to increase transparency within our supply chain and our own operations.

Modern slavery is the umbrella term used to encompass the offences of slavery, servitude, forced or compulsory labour and human trafficking.

The term extends to slavery-like practices such as debt bondage, sale and exploitation of children and forced or servile marriage. It is widespread and recognised to be a growing issue, given the rapid rise in global migration. It exists in every region and every type of economy — industrialised, developing or in transition. No sector or industry is untainted. Modern slavery thrives on vulnerable and unprotected workers, and is driven by discrimination, inequality, poverty and greed for financial gain.

According to the International Labour Organisation (ILO), in 2016 an estimated 40.3 million people were victims of modern slavery. Of these, 24.9 million people were in forced labour in various sectors, including construction, agriculture and fishing.

Modern slavery is an unquestionable and indefensible violation of an individual's basic human rights. Bidfood Australia recognises that modern slavery is a crime that can take many forms and as a commercial organisation, we have a moral and social responsibility to take a zero-tolerance approach to modern slavery in all forms.

We are committed to preventing slavery and human trafficking in our corporate activities and to putting effective systems and controls in place to safeguard against any form of modern slavery within our business and supply chains. Ensuring, as far as we are able, that our supply chains are free from slavery and human trafficking.

Bidfood is committed to ensuring there is transparency in its own business and in its approach to tackling modern slavery and human trafficking throughout its supply chains, consistent with its disclosure obligations under the Modern Slavery Act 2018.

Our employees work in entrepreneurial environments, where being the best and paying attention to detail are imperative.

Teamwork is critical and is reinforced at every level of the organisation.

We aim to:

- Empower our employees with the training, the authority and the responsibility to enable them to achieve their targets

We aim to:

- Fulfil our obligations to the environment and communities within which we operate
- Be a respected member of those communities
- Be an employer of choice

RELEVANT POLICIES

We operate the following policies that assist our approach to the identification of modern slavery risks and steps to be taken to prevent slavery and human trafficking in our operations:

- Modern Slavery Policy – all employees are instructed on this policy upon commencing employment. All local and foreign suppliers are required to agree to, and abide by, this policy
- Whistleblowing policy – we encourage all our employees, ex-employees, suppliers and other stakeholders to report any concerns relating to unlawful conduct, malpractice, dangers to the public or the environment and any other matter of a serious nature through our dedicated tip-off hotline

- Approved suppliers program – we are committed to ensuring that our suppliers adhere to the highest standards of ethics. Suppliers are required to declare that they adhere to the terms and principles of our policies and ensure that they provide safe working conditions, treat workers with dignity and respect, and act ethically and within the law in their use of labour
- BidValues statement – our statement sets out the core values which we expect to be observed throughout the company. This includes the expected highest standards of integrity and behaviour in all its dealings with its stakeholders and society at large
- Anti-fraud policy – we are committed to zero tolerance for corrupt conduct, fraudulent activities or maladministration and operate with the highest possible standards of openness, transparency and accountability in our affairs. We promote a culture of honesty and opposition to fraud in all its forms

EMPLOYEE CONDUCT AND ETHICS

We have strict HR policies and standards in place to ensure compliance with legislation and fundamental rights at work including: freedom of association, dignity at work and prevention of discrimination throughout employment. Prior to recruitment we check the work eligibility of all our employees in Australia, we comply with all Australian employment legislation. Our policies and standards are readily available to our employees through our intranet and notice boards. We operate a Preferred Supplier List (PSL) for the provision of agency labour and expect agencies that provide staff to Bidfood to adhere to the same strict standards. All of our PSL agencies undergo assessment prior to being added to the PSL to check their compliance with applicable laws and regulations.

We have in place a comprehensive code of conduct which includes fairness, non-discriminatory reporting, respect for human dignity and human rights, social justice, health and safety and ethics.

Our values are referenced frequently in internal communications and are constantly reinforced in our team as part of our culture. If any employee's behaviour falls short of our expected code of conduct, we have a performance management approach that includes everything from coaching and guidance right up to termination of employment. If any employee has a concern that they feel they can't raise at work, they can contact our external and independent 24 hour whistleblowing hotline.

CODE OF CONDUCT FOR SUPPLIERS

We're committed to working with our suppliers to operate ethically and to build greater transparency within our supply chains. We aim to act dutifully and always within the law and regulations within Australia.

As a minimum we expect all suppliers to comply with national and international laws. This would include not only suppliers of our food and non-food products, but also suppliers of items which are not for resale i.e. used and/or consumed internally within Bidfood.

Prior to trading, all suppliers undergo a supplier approval process and are expected to provide documented evidence of compliance with Bidfood's food safety and legality standards, and, where applicable, their Modern Slavery Statement. Additionally, social standard certifications such as BSCI, SA800 or a membership to ETI or SEDEX are also preferred. In addition, suppliers of our own brand products are subjected to further risk assessment and due diligence checks.

Where appropriate, and specifically for large expenditure items, Bidfood will conduct a tender process. Such tenders are conducted with transparency and openness as our core value.

Failure by a supplier to meet our standards may jeopardise their ability to continue to do business with us and are addressed on a case-by-case basis. If, following an in-depth investigation, the supplier still refuses to cooperate with Bidfood's due diligence process, we will cease trading with that supplier. If modern slavery or human trafficking is identified in our global supply chain, appropriate investigations will be conducted internally and the relevant authorities would be contacted.

THE RISKS OF MODERN SLAVERY IN OUR BUSINESS

Bidfood Australia has investigated all the areas where it may cause or contribute to modern slavery. It has assessed these risks into three broad categories:

- In our own operations throughout Australia:
 - Through our own labour and employment practices
 - Through the services we utilise
- In our supply chains:
 - Through the goods we purchase for resale (both domestically and from overseas)
 - Through the goods we use in everyday operations

- In our related parties throughout the world and their supply chains:
 - Through the related parties we indirectly own throughout the world
 - Through our sister companies around the globe

The food industry in which we operate unfortunately has many opportunities for exploitation in its supply chain, particularly around:

- Agriculture workers
- Fishery workers

This does not take away from the rest of our supply chain and service providers, these too have areas where there could be exploitation or modern slavery practices.

Geographically, there are several countries which are part of the greater Bidfood group as well as part of our supply chain which are considered to have high modern slavery risks.

DUE DILIGENCE PROCESSES

CURRENT ACTIVITY

We understand that addressing the problem of modern slavery is a journey. The business has developed a road map for due diligence to help navigate the risks associated with modern slavery.

This due diligence includes:

- Gaining a deeper understanding of the employment laws and working conditions where we operate
- Getting a detailed understanding of the true origin of our products, including understanding our suppliers response to modern slavery

- Understanding our supply chain so as to identify and assess particular product or geographical risks of modern slavery and human trafficking
- Evaluating modern slavery and human trafficking risks through the completion of our approved suppliers questionnaire and our supplier declaration

We undertake this process when considering taking on new suppliers and are reviewing our existing suppliers.

In addition to the above, Bidfood provides safe and fair working conditions for all its employees and ensures that no child labour is employed, in line with minimum age laws, within areas that it operates. Bidfood expects the same standards from all of its contractors, suppliers and other business partners and as part of its contracting processes, includes specific prohibitions against the use of forced, compulsory or trafficked labour or anyone held in slavery or servitude, whether adults or children, and we expect that our suppliers will hold their own suppliers to the same standards.

IN OUR BUSINESS

An annual business risk assessment by the Risk and Audit Committee evaluates all internal and external risks Bidfood might face, and assigns priorities based on the relevant business department. Tackling modern slavery remains a top priority for us. We aim to strengthen our understanding of modern slavery within the business and supply chain and implement effective controls to mitigate it.

IN OUR SUPPLY CHAIN

As compliance and adherence to the Modern Slavery Act 2018 remains a top priority, we have reviewed our approach to mitigate this risk. We are in the process of dividing our supply chain into multiple tiers:

- Tier 1 includes manufacturing sites supplying product directly to us
- Tier 2 includes manufacturing sites supplying via their supplier to us (external sites under agents and brokers)
- Tier 3 includes our service providers or providers of capital goods

This will allow us to create a visual representation of the countries our supply chain extends to and to comprehend the complexity of it.

As of June 2019, we became members of the Supplier Ethical Data Exchange (SEDEX). We have commenced the process of identifying and linking with tier 1 members of our supply chain that are already members of this platform. This will illustrate to us their commitment to ethical trading and together we can work to address the risk of modern slavery more effectively and improve our responsible sourcing practices.

We are in the process of reviewing and modifying our modern slavery risk assessment to incorporate the information collated on SEDEX.

MONITORING AND REMEDIAL ACTION

WITHIN OUR BUSINESS

Often employees are the first people who realise that there may be something seriously wrong within an organisation but often they don't express their concerns. This may be because they feel that speaking up may be seen as being disloyal to colleagues and the organisation, or fear that they may be victimised as a result. Our whistleblowing policy aims to encourage and enable our employees to raise serious concerns within Bidfood through approved channels rather than overlooking a problem. We have a 24 hour whistleblowing hotline that anyone can call (employee, visitor or agency worker) if they suspect malpractice, and this is well advertised across all Bidfood sites. Our whistleblowing procedure is designed to make it easy for anyone to make disclosures, without fear of retaliation. They can telephone, email or log an issue via the website, all in multiple languages.

We operate a corporate risk committee, which includes members of our Board of Directors and entails the review of all risks on a quarterly basis as well as the updating of actions to mitigate those risks. Modern slavery and exploitation within our operations are included on the risk register, which means we are regularly reviewing our current ways of working and how to improve them.

WITHIN OUR SUPPLY CHAINS

As we commence the process of linking with our suppliers through the SEDEX platform, we will internally review the information collected and identify the most effective way to use this for future risk assessments.

We will further evaluate any suppliers identified from the risk assessment as high risk. Suppliers may be requested to complete a third party ethical audit, if it is deemed necessary, and complete eLearning modules on the SEDEX platform based on any non-conformances that arise. Any suppliers that are implicated in the media as associated with modern slavery issues will be subject to a full investigation to address any potential issues.

TRAINING, CONSULTATION, RAISING AWARENESS AND CAPACITY BUILDING

Training on this policy and on the risk our business faces from modern slavery in its supply chains forms part of our company induction which all employees undertake and is reinforced as required (and as otherwise necessary).

Our zero tolerance approach to modern slavery is communicated to all suppliers, contractors and business partners at the outset of our business relationship with them and reinforced as appropriate thereafter.

PLANS GOING FORWARD

WITHIN OUR BUSINESS

Our current processes and procedures have led us to assess the level of risk of modern slavery and exploitation within our operations to be low, but this doesn't mean that we should ever be complacent given that the food industry as a whole is identified to be high risk.

Our future plans to further mitigate the risk of trafficking, exploitation and slavery include the following:

- We're reviewing our ethical trading and modern slavery policies to ensure they include our current standards and policies
- We're in the process of reviewing our own internal processes to make sure they're fully robust
- We are working on training programs to ensure all our staff can easily identify signs of modern slavery or exploitation

WITHIN OUR SUPPLY CHAINS

We aim to have completed the first phase of our SEDEX connections with tier 1 suppliers by December 2021.

Once this is complete, we will identify the gaps in our existing tier 1 supply chain and work with those suppliers to either encourage them to join as SEDEX members or establish methods to monitor their ethical practices.

We will also encourage existing SEDEX members to update and maintain their self-assessment questionnaire annually.

The future will then be focused on our tier 2 and non-inventory suppliers.

In 2021, we will review our ethical trading and other related policies to ensure they remain current for all risks identified throughout this process.

We will also start engaging with our international sister companies to ensure we all work together to create a global strategy to address the risks of modern slavery and exploitation.

To date, no modern slavery has been identified in our internal operations nor are we aware from our audit and verification processes of any in our supply chains. We will continue to monitor the effectiveness of our existing controls internally and review annually what improvements may be made to strengthen our auditing and verification procedures.

This statement has been reviewed and approved by the Board of Bidfood Australia and will be reviewed annually.
