Foreword

As a leading Commonwealth agency working within the maritime sector, the Australian Maritime Safety Authority (AMSA) has national and international responsibilities for seafarer welfare. AMSA acknowledges the important measures that must be taken to combat modern slavery in this sector including all associated supply chains.

AMSA is aware that modern slavery can occur in any industry and that modern slavery risks must be recognised so that business do not exploit vulnerable individuals for profit. AMSA is committed to ensuring that our procurement practices and all dealings with the maritime community support supply chains that protect the rights of workers.

AMSA is an advocate for combatting modern slavery and ensuring awareness about this important issue. This Statement is a key measure to address modern slavery and other harmful practices, setting out the actions and steps taken by AMSA to address modern slavery risks.

Introduction

Overview

This is AMSA's fourth annual Modern Slavery Statement, covering the period 1 July 2022 and 30 June 2023.

In the spirit of continuous improvement, it reflects feedback on our inaugural Statement from the Australian Border Force.

What is Modern Slavery?

The Australian Government estimates that there are at least 1500 modern slavery victims in Australia. The United Nations estimates that at least 40 million people around the globe are forced into modern-day slavery. Those most at risk include women and children who may have little or no capacity to protect themselves. Australia has agreed with the United Nations to attempt to abolish modern slavery by 2030.

The term modern slavery is used to describe situations where coercion, threats or deception are used to exploit victims and undermine or deprive them of their freedom.

Serious exploitation

There are eight types of serious exploitation which combined make up the term modern slavery:

- 1. Trafficking in persons the recruitment, harbouring and movement of a person for exploitation through modern slavery
- 2. Slavery situations where the offender exercises powers of ownership over the victim including the power to make a person an object of purchase and use their labour in an unrestricted way
- 3. Servitude situations where the victim's personal freedom is significantly restricted, and they are not free to stop working of leave their place of work
- 4. Forced marriage situations where coercion, threats or deception are used to make a victim marry or where the victim does not understand or is incapable of understanding the nature and effect of the marriage ceremony
- 5. Forced labour situations where the victim is either not free to stop work or not free to leave their place of work
- 6. Debt bondage situations where the victim's services are pledged as a security for a debt and the debt is manifestly excessive of the victim's services, are not applied to liquidate the debt and/or the length and nature of the services are not limited and defined.
- 7. Deceptive recruiting for labour or services situations where the victim is deceived about whether they will be exploited through a type of modern service

Serious exploitation of children and child labour – situations including enslavement, sexual exploitation, used to produce or traffic drugs, and exposure to dangerous work. Freedom from slavery is a fundamental human right. Under the Australian Government endorsed United Nations Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights (UN Guiding Principles) entities have a responsibility to respect human rights in their operations and supply chains. This responsibility includes taking action to prevent, mitigate and, where possible, remedy modern slavery in your entity's operations and supply chains.

Other illegal and harmful practices may be present within the supply chain but are not considered modern slavery. Practices like substandard working conditions or underpayment of workers may be indicators of more serious exploitation, corruption and practices which impact on human rights.

Modern Slavery Act 2018

The Australian Government's Modern Slavery Act 2018 (the Act) came into force on 1 January 2019 and establishes a mandatory reporting regime for entities

- with consolidated revenue of at least A $100 million in the reporting period and
- who are either an Australian entity or a foreign entity carrying on business in Australia.

The Act requires reporting of an Annual Modern Slavery Statement, (the Statement). The Statement must identify and address the risks of modern slavery in AMSA's global and domestic operations and supply chains, and actions taken to address those risks.

Mandatory Requirements

There are seven mandatory criteria that AMSA is required to address in the Statement:

- Identify the reporting entity
- 2. Describe the reporting entity's structure, operations, and supply chains
- 3. Describe the risks of modern slavery practices in the operations and supply chains of the reporting entity and any entities it owns or controls
- 4. Describe the actions taken by the reporting entity and any entities it owns or controls to assess and address these risks, including due diligence and remediation processes
- 5. Describe how the reporting entity assesses the effectiveness of these actions
- 6. Describe the process of consultation with any entities the reporting entity owns or controls (a joint statement must also describe consultation with the entity giving the statement), and
- 7. Provide any other relevant information.

Reporting Period 2022-23 and timelines

This Statement covers the 2022-23 Australian financial year (reporting period). Statements from entities are to be published before 31 December 2023.

Reporting is to the Department of Home Affairs, Australian Border Force, Modern Slavery Business Engagement unit. Entities who fail to comply with the Act will be publicly named and may be required to undertake remedial activities to ensure future compliance.

The Australian Government expects entities to use a continuous improvement approach in implementing the requirements and to see demonstrable improvements in the quality of information and the understanding of modern slavery over time.

AMSA's Statement must be approved by the AMSA Board and signed by a responsible member of the AMSA Board, prior to publication.

Threshold	AMSA has a Consolidated Revenue of at least $100m in the reporting period
1. Identification	Requirement: Identify the reporting entity
	Australian Government Australian Maritime Safety Authority  Australian Maritime Safety Authority is a Corporate Commonwealth Entity, operating under the Public Governance Performance and Accountability Act 2013.  It was established by the Australian Maritime Safety Authority Act 1990.  It is part of the Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications Portfolio of the Australian Government.
2. Organisation	Requirement: Describe the reporting entity's structure, operations and supply chains
A. Structure

AMSA holds the ABN 65 377 938 320 number on the Australian Business Register.

AMSA does not own or control any other entities.

Registered office and locations

AMSA head office is located at 82 Northbourne Ave, Braddon, ACT, 2612.

AMSA has another 19 office locations across Australia.

B. Operations

Primary Role

AMSA is Australia's national agency responsible for safety of commercial vessels and ships, preventing and responding to ship based marine pollution and marine search and rescue.

AMSA's primary role is to:

- promote maritime safety and protection of the marine environment
- prevent and combat ship-sourced pollution in the marine environment
- provide infrastructure to support safe navigation in Australian waters
- provide a national search and rescue service to the maritime and aviation sectors
- provide, on request, services to the maritime industry on a commercial basis
- provide, on request, services of a maritime nature on a commercial basis to the Commonwealth and/or states and territories.

AMSA has a role in ensuring compliance with international conventions such as Safety of Life at Sea (SOLAS) and the Maritime Labour Convention (MLC) while international vessels are in Australian waters.

AMSA fulfills two compliance and enforcement functions relevant to modern slavery risk, which are given effect in Australia by the Navigation Act 2012 and specifically Marine Order 11 (Living and working conditions on vessels) 2015, made under that Act.

Employees and representatives

AMSA has approximately 440 employees, including a permanent representative in London, United Kingdom.

AMSA also delegates powers to officials within relevant State maritime agencies and police forces to enable compliance activities.

Countries of operation

While AMSA is primarily based in Australia and servicing Australia's territorial waters it also:

- conducts education and training campaigns within the pacific region,
- assists in regional search and rescue activities where requested, and
- is responsible for conducting flag State control inspections (Australian ships) in overseas ports.

Investments

AMSA currently invests its cash reserves across the Commonwealth Bank, National Australia Bank, Westpac and Suncorp. These provide access to funds in the event of a major pollution incident.

AMSA's Stakeholders

AMSA's stakeholders include, but are not limited to:

- our regulated community domestic & commercial vessel industry, shipping industry and seafarers
- Maritime service providers and partners—including navigation, pollution response, maritime and aviation search and rescue and contractors
- Australian Government, state and territory governments and their agencies
- International maritime community
- Australian community

C. Supply chain

Types of supply chains

AMSA's supply chains are with various suppliers and specialists from Australia and internationally, including those with expertise in search and rescue, environmental emergencies, maintaining aids to navigation regulating domestic commercial vessels and international vessels entering Australian waters.

Control of supply chains

Supply chains are controlled with strict contracting arrangements as defined by the Commonwealth Procurement Rules.

Suppliers to AMSA are required to comply with any laws, statutes, regulations, bylaws, ordinances or subordinate legislation in force from time to time.

Disclosures: AMSA contracts valued at or above the relevant reporting threshold value of AUD$400,000.00 (GST inclusive) are reported on AusTender: https://www.tenders.gov.au/.

AMSA contracts valued at or above AUD$100,000 (GST inclusive) are published on the AMSA website biannually as required under the Murray Motion: https://www.amsa.gov.au/about/reporting-and-accountability/tenders-and-contracts.

Major suppliers

Our major services are listed in the table below. These services provide long term and stable supply, enabling AMSA to achieve its objectives.

Major service required	Source country (where known)
Aerial Search and Rescue Services	Australia based
Emergency Towage Capability and Aid to Navigation (AtoN) maintenance through a dedicated vessel	Australia based
Travel Services	Australia and international using the whole of Government travel arrangements
Labour hire for call centre ICT and other services	Australian suppliers used for Australian based positions

Contractors for the construction and maintenance of AtoN	Australia based
Material suppliers to contractors for construction of AtoNs	Australian and international including the Netherlands, Singapore, Japan, China and United Kingdom
Provision of office services and supplies, such as cleaning and office furniture	Australia based (WINC is the primary supplier for office supplies)
Provision of corporate clothing	Australian based contractor with potential international supply chains
Provision of IT equipment and supplies	Australian distributors using international companies (Dell, Apple, CISCO, HP, Polycom)

3. Risks

Describe the risks of modern slavery practices in the operations and supply chains of the reporting entity and any entities it owns or controls

AMSA's operations and supply chains cross many industries and sectors - from call centre labour hire to search and rescue operations, stationary to construction of Aids to Navigation (AtoNs). These industries and sectors have complex multi-tiered downstream supply chains that span various industries and countries.

AMSA has conducted a risk assessment on major contracts and supply chains. This assessment is based on the following risk matrix:

	Negligible	Minor	Medium	High	Catastrophic
Almost Certain	Moderate	Moderate	High	Extreme	Extreme
Likely	Low	Moderate	High	High	Extreme
Possible	Low	Low	Moderate	High	High
Unlikely	Very Low	Low	Moderate	Moderate	High

Low	<ul> <li>Materials supplied for AtoN maintenance</li> <li>Search and rescue and emergency towage supplies</li> </ul>	A low risk exists regarding elements of vessels that AMSA utilise and goods procured overseas (equipment, vessel parts, unique building materials/minerals etc) that may include elements of indentured labour.
Moderate	<ul> <li>Provision of ICT equipment and supplies</li> </ul>	The industry which is used to manufacture computer components has a history of indentured labour and servitude which AMSA is aware of.
		AMSA has very little control over the risk presented by mining supply chains but will look to how it can influence suppliers to reduce the risk over time.

Due Diligence and Remediation Process

Where a risk of modern slavery is identified, AMSA will continue to provide education to staff on any potential risks/impacts and possible controls. This may include closer due diligence of suppliers, any subcontractors and major suppliers.

AMSA continues to identify ongoing areas of concern to determine any specific areas that should be more closely monitored, including additional clauses in contracts and other procurement documentation as appropriate.

AMSA processes and procedures have helped to assess and identify any potential risks in our approaches to market, contracts and supply chains. Whist no specific risks or issues have been identified, AMSA is confident that our controls ensure that there is a continued very low risk of modern slavery - and that where risks are present - they will be identified and mitigated with appropriate action taken.

5. Evaluation

Describe how the reporting entity assesses the effectiveness of actions being taken to assess and address modern slavery risks

AMSA has implemented two key actions from our previous Modern Slavery Statements:
Actions from 21/22 Statement	Action Taken	Effectiveness of Action Taken
1. The procurement team will develop an additional module to be introduced into its procurement training program for the identification of potential modern slavery risks and will educate applicable staff on:  - what modern slavery is  - what modern slavery looks like in Government supply chains  - what AMSA can do to further address modern slavery risks, and  - how to report concerns about modern slavery practices.	AMSA has included reference to modern slavery in its training program on procurement processes.  Training covers new clauses added to the Request for Tender (RFT) and contract documents, and explains the need to address the risks and concerns with modern slavery practices.	AMSA is confident that there is an adequate understanding of what modern slavery means and how to address any issues relating to modern slavery that may occur.  At this stage no noncompliances have been identified during a tender process.
<ul> <li>2. In addition to the training detailed above, AMSA will, in future reporting periods, look to:</li> <li>- streamline and further embed modern slavery considerations into procurement practices</li> </ul>	AMSA continues to streamline all aspects of the procurement processes, including issues relating to modern slavery.  If there is evidence found of modern slavery activities AMSA will	There have been no instances of modern slavery identified within AMSA's supply chain.

	<ul> <li>harmonise data collection and reporting on modern slavery risks and actions in order to capture, analyse and report on a higher degree of granular data on activities and risks</li> <li>undertake more detailed mapping of suppliers, including identification of major shared suppliers, in order to facilitate greater collaboration and shared learnings</li> </ul>	capture data and report these activities to Border Force as required.
	across AMSA,  AMSA has not experienced regarding modern slavery in chains.  With the key actions outlined issues that arise with a risk-	any of our current contract	s or associated supply g position to address any issues that arise with a risk-based approach in line with AMSA governance and risk-management principles.
	Continuous improvement and future actions  AMSA will continue to review policies and procedures to include references to modern slavery, including procurement and contract templates, i.e., inclusion of specific clauses contained within Approach to Market (ATM) documents sourced through Department of Finance 'Clausebank'.
	Further, AMSA contract managers will continue to work with current providers to minimize any issues relating to modern slavery - supported by ongoing training from the procurement team, with reference to modern slavery in regular training sessions.
	A list of potential known risks is maintained through AMSAs internal modern slavery risk and control table, helping to strengthen AMSA's understanding of, and capacity to, address and mitigate modern slavery risks.
	AMSA is also investigating establishing a mechanism to allow safe reporting of modern slavery risks in operations and supply chain within contracts.

	Recruitment strategies by suppliers, their agents or labour hire agencies target specific individuals and groups from marginalised or disadvantaged communities.

The product is made from materials or using services reported to involve a high risk of labour exploitation by international organisations or NGOs. Geographic risks The country has not ratified international conventions relevant to modern slavery, such as: the International Convention to Suppress the Slave Trade and Slavery (1926); ILO Convention (No. 29) concerning Forced or Compulsory Labour (1930) the Supplementary Convention on the Abolition of Slavery, the Slave Trade and

Some countries may have higher risks of modern slavery, including due to poor governance, weak rule of law, conflict, migration flows and socioeconomic factors like poverty. A number of organisations issue public reports evaluating governance, corruption and rule of law in countries around the world. You can use these reports to identify higher risk countries for modern slavery.

- The country has not ratified international conventions relevant to modern slavery, such as: the International Convention to Suppress the Slave Trade and Slavery (1926); ILO Convention (No. 29) concerning Forced or Compulsory Labour (1930); the Supplementary Convention on the Abolition of Slavery, the Slave Trade and Practices similar to Slavery (1956); the Protocol to Supress, Prevent and Punish Trafficking in Persons, Especially Women and Children (2000); ILO Convention (No. 182) concerning the Prohibition and Immediate Action for the Elimination of the Worst Forms of Child Labour (1999).
- The country is reported to have a high prevalence of modern slavery or labour rights violations, other human rights violations and/or child labour by international organisations or NGOs.
- The country has inadequate protections for workers, including no or weak capacity to effectively monitor workplace standards and enforce compliance with national standards.
- Law enforcement agencies are reported to be hostile to workers in at risk industries.
- The country forces parts of the population to work for development purposes, for example to assist in construction or agriculture.
- The country is reported to have weak rule of law by international organisations or NGOs, including due to corruption, conflict and/or political instability.
- The country has a high prevalence of people who are vulnerable to exploitation because they are impoverished, displaced or subject to severe discrimination

Entity risks

Some entities may have particular modern slavery risks because they have poor governance structures, a record of treating workers poorly or a track record of human rights violations.

- Entity has previously been reported as noncompliant with human rights or labour standards, including by media or NGO sources.
- Entity's procurement and sourcing processes appear poorly managed or inefficient.
- Entity has complex or opaque supply chains.
- Workers appear to have little information about workplace entitlements and protections and there is a general lack of information about workplace standards.

• Audit results for the entity appear unreliable or conflict with other sources of information about the supplier, such as NGO reports.

- Staff recruitment costs by labour hire companies or recruiters are not covered by the company, meaning that recruitment expenses such as travel may be improperly imposed on workers.
- Entity provides residential care for children overseas.

Indicators of modern slavery

A combination of these signs may indicate a person is in a situation of modern slavery and that further investigation and assessment is required. You should also consider that some groups may be at higher risk of being impacted by modern slavery, such as women and migrant workers.

For example, women can be disproportionately impacted by modern slavery due to structural disadvantages, including lack of access to education.

The suspected victim or victims are:

- living at the workplace, or another place owned/controlled by their employer
- underpaid or not paid at all
- required to work excessive hours
- confined or isolated in the workplace or only leave at odd times
- guarded at work or in their accommodation
- isolated in remote locations that are difficult to access and/or restricted from contacting or interacting with people outside the workplace (for example, their phones are confiscated or they are supervised when in public)
- managed by an intermediary or third party who 'holds' or 'invests' their money for them
- subject to different or less favourable working conditions than other workers because of their country of origin, gender or other factors
- unable to terminate their employment at any time
- appear to be servicing a debt to an employer or a third party (such as a recruitment agent)
- appear to be subjected to, or threatened with, violence, emotional, sexual, verbal or physical abuse and/or degrading treatment in connection with their employment
- appear to be subjected to intimidation, such as threats to their family or close relations in connection with their employment
- appear to have false travel or personal documents and/or are not allowed access to these documents because they are being held by an employer or third party
