The Fund uniquely blends fundamental and quantitative strategies to develop opportunities to generate alpha. This strategy generates concentrated and uncorrelated alpha from fundamental investing; improving on alpha derived from the breadth of the quantitative process. This is an

Australian equity Long/Short strategy with the typical asset classes held by the Fund being cash and cash equivalent instruments, Australian listed shares and other equity like securities and exchange traded derivatives.

In preparing this statement, the Fund's direct supply chain has been considered.

The Fund's operations and supply chains involve custody and administration of assets and also include several support functions including marketing and communication, governance, risk and compliance services and human resources. These support functions are provided by ETL and other external service providers. Risks of modern slavery practices in operations and supply chains of the reporting entity

Modern slavery has been defined by the Act to include eight types of serious exploitation, including:

1. Trafficking in persons;
2. Slavery;
3. Servitude;
4. Forced labour;
5. Forced marriage;
6. Debt bondage;
7. The worst forms of child labour;

8. Deceptive recruiting for labour services.

It is acknowledged that the following types of modern slavery risks and their indicators that can exist in the Fund's operations and supply chains as well as in the equity holdings of the Fund:

- Sector and industry risk:

Certain sectors and industries may have high modern slavery risks because of their characteristics, products and processes. Indicators of this type of risk include the use of unskilled, temporary or seasonal labour, use of short-term contracts and outsourcing, use of foreign workers or temporary or unskilled labour to carry out functions which are not immediately visible (ie. at nighttime) for example, security and cleaning.

In respect of the Fund based on the sectors identified using the Responsible Investment Association, Australasia (RIAA) investor toolkit and the Australian Council of Superannuation Investors (ACSI) Modern Slavery Risks, Rights and Responsibilities: A Guide for Companies and Investors and the Responsible Sourcing Tool, we have identified the following operations/supply chains that exhibit sector and industry risk:

- Agriculture and fishing;
 - Apparel;
 - Construction and building materials;
 - Electronics manufacturing and electronics recycling;
 - Food and beverage;
 - Healthcare;
 - Hospitality;
 - Transport and warehousing; and
 - Financial services.
- Product and services risk: where certain products and services have high modern slavery risks because of the way they are produced, provided or used. We have not identified any significant areas of product services risk in the Fund's operations or supply chains.
 - Geographic risk: where some countries may have higher risk of modern slavery, including due to poor governance, weak rule of law, conflict, migration flows and socio-economic factors. We have analysed the Fund's investments in respect of geographic risk have not identified any areas of significant geographic risk in its investments.
 - Entity risks: where an entity may have particular modern slavery risks because of poor governance structures, a record of treating workers poorly or a track record of human rights violations. We have not identified any instances of entity risk in the Fund's investments and suppliers.

Actions taken by the Tribeca Alpha Plus Fund and ETL to assess and address risks, including due diligence and remediation processes.

If any existing commercial arrangement is found to have breached the UN Guiding Principles, ensuring the Fund will take steps to reassess whether it would continue to provide services with that entity and cease commercial relations unless a satisfactory remediation process is established; and*
- utilising remediation processes including whistleblower hotlines, contract clauses with dispute resolution provisions and improving appropriate policies and procedures such as code of conduct and grievance mechanisms to mitigate risks and effects of modern slavery practices.

- Continued to refine and design ETL's modern slavery onboarding questionnaires for service providers and investment managers.

How the Reporting Entity and ETL assesses the effectiveness of actions to assess and address risks

As this is the second year of modern slavery reporting for the ETL as the Responsible Entity of the Fund is in the early stages of assessing the effectiveness of the risk-based approach which includes the review of geographical jurisdictions the Reporting Entities are exposed to and the likely exposure within any investable assets that may align to areas of known modern slavery risks.

ETL intends to provide its Board of Directors with an annual assessment on the implementation and effectiveness of actions to ensure the obligations within this Statement are met. The ETL Board shall consider the effectiveness of the measures as set out above and have the authority to make amendments to this Statement as it sees fit.
