Modern Slavery Statement 2024

1. Introduction

Midway is committed to preventing slavery and human trafficking within all of our operations and across our supply chains.

This statement is made pursuant to Modern Slavery Act 2018 Australia and sets out the steps we have taken to identify and mitigate risks of slavery and human trafficking across our business and supply chains during the 1 July 2023 – 30 June 2024 Financial Year.

2. Midway structure, operations and supply chains

2.1 Structure

Midway is one of Australia's largest woodfibre processors and exporters with a strong and growing plantation and carbon management business.

Midway is an Australian company based in Geelong, Victoria. Midway is manager for all the subsidiary companies described in Table 1 below and is either a majority shareholder or sole shareholder of those companies. Midway and subsidiary companies (referred to as Midway hereafter) employ 120 staff across Australia.

2.2 Operations

Woodfibre

Midway's core business is the production and marketing of woodfibre for supply to producers of pulp recyclable paper and packaging plastics replacement products and coal replacing energy generation in the Asian region. Woodfibre sold by Midway is primarily produced from plantation hardwood, with the balance produced from plantation softwood and thinning logs from native hardwood forests.

Midway has interests in five processing and export facilities across Australia.

Forest and Land Management

Midway manages (under a range of ownership arrangement) approximately 60,000 ha of forests within Victoria, Tasmania and the Tiwi Islands.

Midway brings over 20 years' experience in softwood and hardwood plantation management and environmental management systems covering all stages from land selection, establishment, maintenance through to harvesting.

Logistics, Harvest and Haul

Midway engages contractors to harvest and haul timber to processing sites, including the company owned mills and to third party facilities. We operate in compliance with timber harvesting codes of practice in the states we operate in – Vic, SA, Qld, NT, NSW and Tasmania. Midway manages all aspects of harvesting for landowners' plantations, including permits and approvals, roading, harvesting and haulage.

Carbon

Midway provides solutions for carbon abatement and emissions offsets using natural processes and our expertise.

2.3 Supply Chains

The majority of Midway's supply chain is woodfibre. All woodfibre is sourced from within Australia through one of the following supply arrangements:

- Harvest and haulage operations that Midway owns and operates. Labour is engaged directly by Midway.
- Harvest and haulage operations where Midway engages contractors and supervises the work. Contractors engage labour.
- Third party supply of wood delivered 'Mill Door' under contract from either State owned or private entities. Suppliers or their contractors engage labour.
- Most of the woodfibre supply is certified under either or both the Forest Stewardship Council (FSC) or Responsible Wood (AS4708) standards.

The supply chain includes processed woodchips and may extend to either the departure port, or to the destination port for woodchip vessels. With Free-on-Board (FOB) woodchip shipments, Midway loads the vessel at the departure port, and the buyer arranges freight to the destination port. For Cost Insurance and Freight (CIF) shipments Midway charts the vessel to the destination port.

Other products and services provided to Midway include port services, fixed plant and equipment, mobile plant, consumables, seedlings, fertilisers, agricultural chemicals, office supplies, consulting services, fuels, electricity, and protective clothing. Table 2 below lists suppliers and their location.

Risks of modern slavery practices

Table 3 below describes the risks of modern slavery practices within Midway's operations and supply chains. Risks are assessed as low within operations conducted by Midway. These are conducted within Australia, subject to controls

Certain areas of our supply chain may pose a higher labour rights risk due to their location and the nature of the goods and services procured. Our risk assessment is a combination of sector and industry risks, product and services risks, geographic risks; and entity risks.

Table 3 – Risk assessment

Sector	Risk
Operations
Woodfibre production – roundwood, or woodchip produced in forest	Midway engages with third parties for harvest and haul production services within Australia. There is a small risk that modern slavery conditions exist. As all operations are governed under Australian Law, Midway considers this risk to be low.
Woodfibre processing – production of woodchip from roundwood, storage and shiploading	Midway engages third parties in the process of shiploading such as stevedores, shipping agents and fumigation services. There is a small risk that modern slavery conditions exist. As all are governed under Australian Law, Midway considers this risk to be low.
Forest and tree farm Silviculture	Midway engages third parties for forest and treefarm silviculture services There is a low risk that modern slavery conditions exist. As all operations are governed under Australian Law, Midway considers this risk to be low
Vessel Charter	There is a risk that modern slavery conditions exist amongst seafarers. Midway currently only charters vessels from one major Japanese shipping company. That company has their own management support system and requires suppliers and subcontractors to confirm compliance with principles of fair and ethical business. Midway considers this risk to be low
Fixed plant and equipment	Could potentially entail risk deep in supply chains, such as the mining of conflict minerals and the production of raw materials. Largely fabricated within Australia or US and installed using local companies and therefore the risk is considered low.
Consumables	Could potentially entail risk deep in supply chains, such as the mining of conflict minerals and the production of raw materials.
Mobile plant	Could potentially entail risk deep in supply chains, such as the mining of conflict minerals and the production of raw materials. Largely fabricated within Australia or US and installed using local companies and therefore the risk is considered low.
Seedlings	Supply chain within Australia, considered low risk.
Fertilisers	Could potentially entail risk deep in supply chains, such as the mining of conflict minerals and the production of raw materials. Some major Australian suppliers have a modern slavery policy and have lodged a modern slavery statement.
