THE REPORTING ENTITY & STRUCTURE

This Modern Slavery Statement ('Statement') identifies the steps taken by Kennards Hire Pty Limited (ABN 69 001 740 727) ('Kennards Hire') and its controlled entities to identify, manage and mitigate the risk of modern slavery in our supply chains and operations.

Kennards Hire New Zealand Limited (NZBN 94290305354473) operates under the control of Kennards Hire. Kennards Hire New Zealand is not, individually, a mandatory reporting entity under the Modern Slavery Act 2018 (Cth) ('the Act').

During the reporting period, the Kennards Hire executive team continued to have management oversight of Kennards Hire New Zealand. Management and governance are applied consistently across both entities, including in relation to modern slavery.

This Statement has been published in accordance with the Act and has been prepared in consultation with the Kennards Hire Board of Directors. This Statement has been signed by a duly authorised corporate officer.

In this Statement, where details have remained unchanged across reporting periods, information from Kennards Hire's previous modern slavery statements has been reiterated.

INTRODUCTION

At Kennards Hire, we know that our responsibility to people extends far beyond our direct team members. In our sixth year of reporting under the Modern Slavery Act we have again sought to uphold the highest standards in relation to workplace conditions and the welfare of our team and workers in our supply chain. We achieve our core objectives by always maintaining our commitment to our corporate values and by continuing to build on the modern slavery risk mitigation initiatives that have been established in previous years.

The risks of modern slavery have never been more prevalent with global estimates suggesting that more than 50 million people are trapped in modern slavery worldwide. We continue to recognise that modern slavery is not just a human rights issue that is occurring overseas in supply chains, with many thousands estimated to be living in modern slavery conditions in Australia and New Zealand. New and emerging risks are also presenting with climate driven displacement impacting the vulnerability of populations and digital enabled exploitation such as 'cyber-slavery' becoming more widespread.

FY26 is the final year of our three-year Environment, Social and Governance (ESG) strategy. Looking ahead, this year we intend to reflect on our performance in terms of both delivery and impact of initiatives under our ESG strategy. We will update our materiality assessments and develop a refreshed ESG strategy for the next period. A vital component of the updated ESG strategy is the formulation of a modern slavery action plan to take us forward on our continuous improvement journey.

OUR OPERATIONS

Kennards Hire is a leading equipment hire supplier with operations in Australia and New Zealand. We provide rental products and solutions across various market and industries, from do-it-yourself home renovators, through to complex services and equipment required for commercial construction and infrastructure projects. We also supply equipment and other support to specialist markets, including pumping and power generation, road traffic management, rail, testing and measuring, major events, concrete care, and lifting and shifting.

The Kennards Hire network operates from over 210 branch locations and distribution centres across Australia and New Zealand to deliver quality hire equipment products, industry solutions and exceptional services to a vast range of customers.

OUR PEOPLE & SUPPLY CHAINS

As at 30 June 2025, Kennards Hire employed 1971 people across our branch and support network, comprised of 1761 team members in Australia and 210 team members in New Zealand.

Since the conclusion of the previous reporting period, there have been no significant changes to the composition of the Kennards Hire workforce by type of employment.

- 2% Part-time
- 6% Casual
- 92% Full-time

The Kennards Hire's supply chain is centred around the products and services we procure directly from suppliers to carry out our business operations. Plant and equipment we procure from our equipment suppliers to hire to our customers is the most substantial supply chain category by both overall spend and time invested. We recognise that many processes must occur before plant and equipment can be delivered to Kennards Hire to be hired to our customers. These processes include raw material extraction, refinement, manufacturing and transport, each of which with their own complex supply chains.

The categories of plant and equipment offered by Kennards Hire are broad and range across generators, air compressors and pumps through to site equipment, testing and measuring gear and traffic management products. Our supply chains also include the products and services utilised by our operational support functions.

MODERN SLAVERY RISKS

As has been the case in previous reporting periods, we are not aware of any actual or suspected instances of modern slavery in our supply chains or operations.

Kennards Hire partners with over 5,000 suppliers. There were no material changes to our supplier composition during the reporting period or across reporting periods. The total number of Kennards Hire suppliers increased by approximately 2%, driven by several new branch openings in New Zealand. Beyond Australia and New Zealand, our overseas supplier count decreased slightly, continuing to account for less than 1% of Kennards Hire total suppliers.

The risk assessment described in the ensuing methodology section was performed against the updated Kennards Hire supplier list for the reporting period. The entire Kennards Hire supplier list was included in our FY25 risk assessment.

Our approach to identify and assess the potential risks of modern slavery, including those that may lie well beyond the suppliers that we are in a direct contractual relationship with has remained consistent year-on-year. The supplier assessment methodology which remains unchanged since the last reporting period is described in detail in the Risk Assessment Methodology section. The principle of expanding modern slavery due diligence beyond direct suppliers to maximise transparency continues to underpin the ongoing development of our response.

According to the risk assessment, the overall inherent risk profile of our supplier base decreased slightly. Taking the assessment back to tier 10 in the supply chain, the theoretical gross calculated number of people in forced labour across reporting periods decreased 18% year on year, partly due to slightly lower spend in procurement. The theoretical gross calculated number of people in forced labour decreased year on year by 12% per million dollars spent. The risk assessment also showed relatively higher modern slavery risk in the furthest tiers of the supply chain. Inherent risk by geography remains consistent year on year. Inherent risk is highest in Australia as a consequence of the concentration of procurement spend in this region. The next highest risk regions are China and India.

Risk Assessment Methodology

Incorporating company spend data throughout global markets, we have utilised external consultants with proprietary technology to trace the economic inputs required to produce products and services sourced from tier 1 suppliers to tier 2 suppliers, tier 2 suppliers to tier 3 suppliers, and so on, all the way to tier 10 suppliers in our supply chain.

This supply chain mapping was performed using a balanced, global Multi-Regional Input-Output (MRIO) table which links supply chain data from 190 countries, and in relation to 15,909 industry sectors. This MRIO table is assembled using the following sources:

- a. The United Nations' (UN) System of National Accounts;
- b. UN COMTRADE databases;
- c. Eurostat databases;
- d. The Institute of Developing Economies, Japan External Trade Organisation (IDE/JETRO); and
- e. Numerous National Agencies including the Australian Bureau of Statistics.

The MRIO is then examined against the following international standards:

- a. The UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights;
- b. The Global Slavery Index;
- c. International Labour Organisation (ILO) Global Estimates of Modern Slavery; and
- d. The United States' Reports on International Child Labour and Forced Labour.

A proprietary algorithm has then been applied to synthesise publicly available risk data against the exclusively licensed MRIO table. The result of this process is the creation of a modern slavery risk profile to tier 10 for each supplier.

This analysis was performed for the purposes of risk identification under the Act. It does not purport to confirm the actual existence (or nonexistence) of slavery in our supply chains and operations. Analysis was undertaken at the industry and country level. It does not account for variances at the entity, region or product level.

The multi-faceted approach to modern slavery risk assessment that we have undertaken has included examination and analysis of the following:

- a. The individual suppliers and industries with the most elevated risk of modern slavery;
- b. Supply chain plots to provide a visual representation of the supply chains for our top three (3) first tier industries;
- c. Plotting the relative slavery risk in the supply chain by tier, up to tier 10;
- d. Geographical depiction of the cumulative risk of modern slavery across the supply chain around the world;
- e. An overview of the classification of the first tier of our supply chain by country and industry, including relative modern slavery risk; and
- f. Suppliers in our supply chains and operations that posed any calculated risks in relation to modern slavery were identified.

Key Risk Areas

Overseas Workers

Overseas recruitment continues to play a role in our recruitment strategy and enables Kennards Hire to address skills shortages across our network of operations, particularly in Australia's remote locations. 17 small engine mechanics who were interviewed and selected in FY24 has their visas approved and began employment with Kennards Hire during the reporting period. Several additional small engine mechanics were interviewed and offered roles with Kennards Hire during the FY25 reporting period. A number of permanent residency applications are also underway.

We continue to monitor overseas recruitment closely and the elevated risk of modern slavery associated with the activity. We recognise that the risks range from those that we can directly control such as substandard working conditions through to risks to which we can contribute or be linked to such as exploitation by other parties in the early stages of the recruitment phase. Overseas recruitment risk controls include:

- Restricting overseas recruitment to a single jurisdiction using carefully selected suppliers with whom Kennards Hire has developed strong working relationships;
- Only using recruiting agencies that are accredited by the recognised overseas government agency dealing with the protection of worker's rights and the promotion of full employment, quality of employment opportunities and securing the best terms and conditions;
- Requiring that suppliers instate ethical recruitment policies and practices and do not, under any circumstances, charge applicant's placement fees or costs;
- On the ground presence in the country of origin by a Kennards Hire employed team member during each recruitment round. This enables the completion of in-person interviews and review of supplier operations on the ground for the purposes of ensuring workers' rights are being protected during the recruitment process;
- Ensuring workers recruited internationally are provided with appropriate remuneration and employee benefits, including assistance with accommodation and on-the-ground support. Kennards Hire also supports applications for permanent residency;
- Conducting annual salary audits to ensure all enterprise agreement and remuneration obligations are being met; and
- Periodically refreshing desk-based supplier engagement controls for all suppliers involved in overseas recruitment activities..

Textile and Apparel Suppliers

Garment workers, sometimes hidden within the supply chains of lower-income countries can face poor or exploitative working conditions. These exploitative practices in their most extreme forms can lead to situations of forced labour and other modern slavery conditions. Although Kennards Hire purchases a relatively small amount of apparel in the form of team members uniforms and personal protective equipment and textiles for operational use, we have identified our suppliers operating in these industries. A process of engagement and review with these suppliers has commenced to expose any modern slavery red flags.

Solar and Critical Minerals

We are continuing to invest in solar capability at Kennards Hire branches and in lower emissions products for our customers. The Kennards Hire branch solar capability rollout has involved the ongoing purchasing of solar panels and inverters. During the reporting period, Kennards Hire transitioned solar panel purchasing to exclusively traceable component solar panels. In relation to hire equipment, battery and solar and electrical componentry is increasingly contained on products. We are continuing to monitor media reports and importation bans both locally and in foreign jurisdictions regarding the presence of forced labour indicators connected to solar and critical minerals.

Original Equipment Manufacturers

High spend in the machinery and equipment supplier category means that a substantial share of Kennards Hire overall inherent supplier risk profile lies within this category. A high proportion of this risk is represented by a relatively small number of large suppliers. However, resellers and distributors rather than manufacturers themselves are often the direct to Kennards Hire equipment suppliers. We are continuing to prioritise engagement with equipment manufacturers wherever possible to enable more effective assessment of risk and implementation of mitigation measures.

OUR APPROACH

Cleaning Accountability Framework & Supplier Review

During the reporting period Kennards Hire renewed our membership and continued to support the Cleaning Accountability Framework (“CAF”). As a CAF member organisation, Kennards Hire remains committed to responsible business practices and decent work for cleaners. CAF is a multi-stakeholder organisation that exists to end exploitation in property services and improve labour standards through education and advocacy. CAF stakeholders work together in the spirit of cooperation to drive responsible standards for the procurement, management and delivery of cleaning services. This occurs through CAF Certification, a worker-centric due diligence mechanism that assesses, addresses and mitigates the risk of labour exploitation by engaging workers and other supply chain stakeholders. Through CAF, Kennards Hire is provided with updates on the risk profile in the cleaning industry, guidance on responsibility as a cleaning procurer and access to tools designed to improve identification, investigation and remediation procedures. As a CAF member, Kennards Hire is working alongside other stakeholders to address modern slavery risk in this industry.

On-site Audits

During the reporting period, we again engaged a third-party testing, inspection, certification and compliance solutions provider to conduct an on-site overseas supplier audit. The audit reviewed working conditions, working hours, transparency and a range of other key indicators. Kennards Hire is continuing to engage with a key supplier regarding corrective actions.

Internal Education and Training

During the reporting period, we continued to use the custom developed modern slavery risk and awareness training module. The training was completed by a new expanded group of Kennards Hire team members. The training is designed to build knowledge and awareness of modern slavery and Kennards Hire specific risks and expanded the delivery of modern slavery training internally. The module includes information about Kennards Hire policies and procedures, how to engage suppliers about modern slavery, risk identification through to resolution and the requirements under the Act.

Policy Framework and Governance

Supplier Pre-Screening

Supplier onboarding digital pre-screening for modern slavery risk is undertaken for all equipment suppliers with manufacturing based offshore and for those operating in industries of elevated risk. In circumstances where supplier risk is above threshold, or if actual or suspected wrongdoing is identified, the supplier must be referred to the Modern Slavery Working Group for assessment before on-boarding procedures continue. After the conclusion of the reporting period, but prior to the lodgement of this statement, the pre-screening requirement has been expanded to apply to marketing, IT and Finance suppliers that meet the criteria outlined above.

Supplier Code of Conduct

The Kennards Hire Supplier Code of Conduct reflects our company values and standards. The Supplier Code of Conduct requires that Kennards Hire suppliers comply with international and domestic modern slavery regulations in all circumstances. The code supports the communication of our minimum expectations when we engage and work with our suppliers.

Whistleblower Policy

The Kennards Hire Whistleblower Policy was reviewed and updated during the reporting period. An independent third-party reporting channel has been added as a reporting option to encourage the disclosure of reportable information in circumstances where the reporter may not feel comfortable making a report to an internal channel.

Our Whistle Blower Policy supports risk remediation by providing affected parties and observers with a clear directive that wrongdoing in any form within or external to Kennards Hire, by contractors or suppliers, should be reported. The Whistleblower Policy encourages legitimate reporting of wrongdoing by establishing a convenient and safe mechanism for doing so and by providing protection for people who make wrongdoing disclosures. Kennards Hire received 1 whistleblower report during the reporting period. For more information and to obtain a copy of the Kennards Hire Whistleblower Policy please visit the Kennards Hire Website.

Modern Slavery Policy

Our Modern Slavery policy describes how Kennards Hire's modern slavery risk mitigation is reflected through the internal governance framework including in operational policies and procedures. The Modern Slavery Policy establishes consequences of non-conformance and outlines Kennards Hire's commitment to addressing modern slavery across training, engagement, due diligence and risk remediation.

Human Rights and Ethical Conduct Policy

Our Human Rights and Ethical Conduct Policy sets out our commitment and guiding principles to always respect and uphold human rights and demonstrate a high standard of ethical conduct across our operation.

Bullying, Harassment and Discrimination Policy

Our Bullying, Harassment and Discrimination Policy assists in minimising risk to our team members' wellbeing by education about and addressing inappropriate and unlawful behaviour.

Contracts

We have developed longstanding partnerships with many of our suppliers, particularly those from whom we procure the high-quality equipment we hire to our customers. Our standard equipment purchasing contract contains contract provisions dealing with modern slavery including that the contracting party implement reasonable measures to address modern slavery in their own supply chains and operations.

Procurement Policy

Our Procurement Policy establishes our approach to procuring suppliers and services through a process of balanced judgement.

Grievance Handling Policy and Procedure

The Grievance Handling Policy and Procedure outlines the procedures for complaint handlings to ensure that grievances are resolved effectively, confidentially where relevant and with sensitivity to all involved. The grievance process is readily available to all Kennards Hire team members and is used frequently.

Supplier Self-Assessment Questionnaire (SAQ)

We did not undertake a broad SAQ oriented risk management exercise this reporting period. However, SAQs continue to play an important role in supplier engagement and modern slavery risk mitigation. SAQs were issued and response evaluated on an ad hoc basis throughout the reporting period.

Modern Slavery Working Group

The Modern Slavery Working Group met every other month during the reporting period with representation across Legal, Procurement, Finance and People & Culture including team members from the Kennards Hire leadership team. The Working Group is well positioned to respond to modern slavery risks identified through risk mitigation initiatives, formal grievance mechanisms, informal communication and due diligence activities. The group continues to be responsible for monitoring progress of modern slavery actions, assignment of tasks, risk tracking using the risk assessment platform and review and approval of proposed actions. The modern slavery working group reports directly to the Kennards Hire CEO, reporting to the Kennards Hire Board of Directors.

REVIEWING OUR PROGRESS

Measuring Effectiveness

We constantly measure the effectiveness of our actions to combat modern slavery risks that our business causes, contributes to or is directly linked to by:

- Reviewing the number and proportion of current and new suppliers subject to modern slavery risk assessments;
- Assessing the suitability of modern slavery training and completion rates amongst team members;
- Monitoring the use and effectiveness of grievance mechanisms and remediation processes;
- Reviewing and updating our policy framework and governance to ensure it continues to align with our core commitments and contributes to desired outcomes;
- Utilising supplier self-assessment questionnaires and evaluating responses; and
- Partnering with industry working groups such as CAF to develop our understanding of industry risks and mitigation strategies.

The FY25 reporting period is the final year of the three-year modern slavery action plan Kennards Hire adopted in FY23. The action plan has underpinned our strategic approach to continuous improvement, and it has supported the integration of our approach across different business functions. Looking ahead, we intend to develop a refreshed measuring effectiveness framework to align with updates to our broader ESG strategy and modern slavery action plan planned for FY26.
