Modern Slavery Statement

1. Purpose of Statement

This Modern Slavery Statement is made by Capital International, Inc. ("ClInc") for the purposes of addressing the requirements of section 16 of the Australian Modern Slavery Act 2018 for the reporting period of 1 July 2022 to 30 June 2023.

2. Corporate Structure & Operations

Cllnc is a wholly owned subsidiary of Capital Group International Inc., which in turn is a wholly owned subsidiary of The Capital Group Companies, Inc. ("Capital Group"). The Capital Group is an international investment research and management group providing services to institutional and private investors via investment professionals and support staff. Capital Group has been privately held since 1931 and is headquartered in the United States with over 7,000 employees across 27 locations around the world as of 30 June 2023.

Cllnc is the investment manager of registered managed investment schemes operated by Capital Group Investment Management Limited ("CGIML"), a wholly owned subsidiary of Cllnc. As an investment research and management company, Cllnc's operation involves mainly highly skilled work conducted by educated professionals, and Cllnc has in place sound workplace policies and procedures. For these reasons, modern slavery risk in Cllnc's operations is low.

Cllnc and CGIML are supported by various global corporate functions and shared services including Human Resources, Office Management, Information Technology, Marketing, Distribution, Finance, Internal Audit, Legal & Compliance, Procurement, Client Relations, and Company Secretariat. Many of these functions are performed directly by employees of Capital Group entities in various locations in the United Kingdom, Luxembourg, Switzerland, Singapore, Japan and Hong Kong.

3. Supply Chains

As an international investment research and management company, Cllnc's supply chain includes vendors providing the following:

- a. trade execution, clearing and settlement services;
- b. asset custody, fund administration, unit registry, and product distribution;
- c. market data, research and rating services;
- d. office space and office services (e.g. maintenance, cleaning, and catering);

- e. professional services including accounting, tax, legal, and insurance;
- f. IT hardware, software, maintenance and support services; and
- g. office supplies (e.g. stationery, food and beverages, etc).

4. Risks of Modern Slavery in Operations & Supply Chains

Capital Group takes pride in encouraging excellent professional relationships, good working conditions and competitive salaries that are compatible with sound and sensible business practices.

ClInc employees

Cllnc is an equal opportunity employer and has 263 employees worldwide. Recruitment is conducted in accordance with Capital Group's internal policies. For example, background checks and pre-employment screening (including, but not limited to, reference checks, police checks, searches on ASIC's register of banned and disqualified persons, bankruptcy checks) are carried out during the recruitment process to ensure candidates to be employed are suitable for their roles based in Australia, as these roles are to perform functions both for Cllnc and in support of CGIML's operation. CGIML holds an Australian Financial Services License, regulated by the Australian Securities & Investment Commission, and is required to have certain standards, amongst other things, in its compliance and risk management arrangements. Cllnc ensures that employees are eligible to work in a jurisdiction where the role is based, pays remuneration and benefits in compliance with local labor laws, commensurate with market practices, and according to employment contracts.

Capital Group sets its standard of conduct in the Code of Conduct that all employees and contractors are to acknowledge and abide by. Cllnc and CGIML have in place a Whistleblower Policy that applies to Capital Group employees based in Australia. Under the Whistleblowing Policy, Capital Group employees can raise concerns regarding unethical behavior or potential wrongdoing in confidence and without fear of retribution.

Supply chains

Capital Group has a risk management framework in place that covers vendor risk management. Capital Group entities have to consult the Vendor Risk Management Standard each time there are prospective services to be outsourced or changes to existing outsourcing arrangements. Material outsourced service providers are reviewed annually by the Capital Group employee(s) responsible for maintaining the relationship with the vendor and overseeing the services provided.

During the reporting period, Cllnc reviewed its list of third-party vendors. The suppliers of office premises for Cllnc in Hong Kong, London and Sydney are amongst the vendors with top spending from Cllnc. Whilst Cllnc did not engage directly for facility management and maintenance (including office cleaning and other services for the office premises), it did recognize that the modern slavery risks in these service lines were higher. Cllnc recognizes that suppliers providing services such as cleaning, security, maintenance or construction may engage in exploitative labor practices, employ workers under forced labor conditions or paying unfairly low wages. Cllnc did engage with professional services firms for accounting, tax and legal advisory services in jurisdictions where modern slavery risks may be higher, given that suppliers may outsource certain functions or services to subcontractors who may not adhere to ethical labor practices or potentially engage in modern slavery practices such as charging excessive fees to works that leads to situations of debt bondage.

5. Actions Taken to Assess and Address the Risks of Modern Slavery

Whilst each business unit is responsible for engaging service providers and vendors, Capital Group has a Vendor Risk Management Standard outlining the requirements for outsourced services to assist various business areas in identifying and managing risks related to vendors. In consideration of modern slavery risks in its supply chain, ClInc also took into consideration Guidance Note 40 - Responding to the Modern Slavery Reporting Requirements issued by the Financial Services Council ("FSC") in Australia.

Capital Group performs background checks of all associates who participate in a global procurement process. Relevant associates carry out due diligence on the high-risk supply chain partners identified via a risk-based approach. All material service providers are also subject to annual review by the associates or teams that engage those outsourced services.

Cllnc reviewed the list of supply chain partners based on amount spent, the nature of goods and services provided, and the countries where the supply chain partners carry out their operations. From this list, Cllnc selected the top 35 supply chain partners for further study. These supply chain partners accounted for 90% of total spend on suppliers in FY2023. Many of these supply chain partners are subject to modern slavery legislation in the United Kingdom and Australia, and have published their own modern slavery statements on their websites.

However, Clinc also identified the following vendors who are material suppliers and operate in jurisdictions where there is no modern slavery legislation, or in a line of service where modern slavery risks is higher:

- Supplier of office premises and facility management in Hong Kong, however Cllnc was able to confirm that Hong Kong has legislation in place that prohibits slavery or forced labor.
- Professional advisory firms based in the places in the United States where there is no modern slavery legislation. Cllnc reached out to these suppliers with a modern slavery questionnaire with the aim of gaining more understanding on the supply chain partner's position or internal policies / guidelines addressing modern slavery risks. There are also extensive labor laws in the US that stipulate minimum wage, workers' rights, acceptable work conditions, and prohibitions on forced labor.
- Professional advisory firm based in Turkey that does not have an equivalent of modern slavery legislation. Turkey is a signatory to the United Nations Convention, and the Turkish Constitution prohibits forced labor and drudgery. Turkey also has labor laws that regulate working conditions and workers' rights.

Based on ClInc's review, it did not identify any instances of modern slavery in its supply chain. Similarly, ClInc has not been informed of any instances of modern slavery in its supply chain.

6. Assessing the Effectiveness of Actions Taken

Based on the fact that we did not identify any instances of modern slavery in our supply chain in our review in Section 5 above, we consider that Capital Group's risk management framework covering vendor risk management and our annual review of material service providers are effective considering the nature of Cllnc's business.

Cllnc regularly reviews its processes and procedures to ensure they are up to date and meeting their objectives, in this case addressing the modern slavery risks in our operations and supply chain. We will continue to assess the effectiveness of our actions by tracking those actions, communicating with our suppliers, seeking advice from external parties, and undertaking further reviews.

7. Consultation with Controlled Entities

Cllnc consulted with CGIML (a wholly owned subsidiary) in the development of this Modern Slavery Statement. Throughout the reporting period, Cllnc actively engaged with CGIML in relation to identifying, assessing and addressing shared modern slavery risks. including the monitoring and supervision of a material third-party service provider that provides asset custody and fund administration functions to CGIML.

8. Looking Ahead

Cllnc will continue to enhance its modern slavery mitigation practices by:

- a. Increasing associates' awareness of modern slavery risks by providing communication and training to those involved in selecting and managing supply chain partners;
- b. Further analyzing and understanding its supply chain to ensure its risk mitigation approach is appropriate; and
- c. Reviewing requirements of any regulatory updates to the Modern Slavery Act 2018 to ensure our approach remains compliant.
